LIBERALS URGE EARLY FEDERAL ELECTION

Mayor-elect McGeer Promises Go-ahead Plans For Vancouver

Defeated Official Wishes Him Well

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—An ardent champion of monetary reform has displaced an old idol of electors of Vancouver, and as a result G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., will take office as mayor in the new year. He has behind him a majority of 25,475 votes, given to him yesterday by all sections of the city over Louis D. Taylor, who sought re-election as mayor.

The vote was: McGeer, 34,496; Taylor, 9,021. It was the greatest majority ever given a Vancouver candidate in a total poll that exceeded by 3,000 any previously cast.

Mayor Taylor met defeat after an unusual career. Since 1910 he had been elected eight times and held office for eleven years, his last three terms having been for two years each.

Mr. McGeer had asked for a majority that would be heard "on St. James Street" and "in Ottawa," and after the result was known he declared, "We must break this ruthless control of the money powers or it will break our civilization."

TO CHECK CRIME

Though Mr. McGeer is best known recently for his advocacy of monetary reform, many civic issues were tied up in the campaign, including his criticism of what he termed "crime" and "morality" conditions. The cry for "new blood at city hall" was also heard.

Mr. Taylor, who at various times in his life suffered defeats at the polls along with his successes, survived airplane accidents and near drownings, and overcame an illness which promised to end his public career two years ago, conceded his defeat at an early hour yesterday evening.

NO APOLOGIES

"I have no apologies and no regrets," he said.

"I sincerely hope Mr. McGeer will fulfill all the promises he made to the electors and can bring to Vancouver the amelioration that is expected from his campaign speeches. "I wish him well."

New Licenses Due March 1

The change in the year, effected last year, will continue, it was explained in order that auto owners may have an opportunity of getting over Christmas financial worries before having to pay for their licenses. Licenses carried by cars now are good until February 28.

Canadian Press

Sioux Falls, S.D., Dec. 13.—Scotty, a year-old terrier, was dead to-day, but was credited with saving the lives of three persons.

When fire broke out in the basement of the S. P. McKenna home shortly before midnight, Scotty barked so furiously he awakened McKenna, his wife and their daughter.

Investigating, McKenna was overcome after calling the fire department. He was quickly revived while firemen made short work of extinguishing the blaze, but Scotty was dead on the basement floor.

BRITAIN PROTESTS OIL MONOPOLY

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 13.—Britain has made a further protest to Tokio against the new Japanese oil monopoly in Manchukuo. When, with the United States and Holland, Britain last protested against the monopoly the Japanese government replied Manchukuo was an independent state for which she was not responsible. Britain, still declining to recognize Manchukuo, regarded the reply as unsatisfactory and has now lodged a further protest in Tokio.

Supervisor for Cities Chosen

E. H. Bridgman Takes Post With Department of Municipal Affairs

Edward Harry Bridgman, former mayor of North Vancouver city, to-day was appointed by the provincial government as supervisor in the Department of Municipal Affairs.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, the minister, [illegible] it was part of a departmental plan to keep in closer touch with the municipal situation and to render further assistance to defaulting municipalities and those in financial difficulties.

The post of the supervisor is a new one and is directly under that of the deputy minister, Robert Baird.

"We are anxious to give as much help as we can to those municipalities who find themselves in trouble, as well as those having a general problem," said Mr. Gray. "Mr. Bridgman, with a wide municipal experience, is ably equipped to tender this advice and assistance."

Mr. Bridgman will spend much of his time as a traveling representative of the department.

He spent a number of years in public life, as reeve in North Vancouver district, and both alderman and mayor in North Vancouver city. He was also president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Chief Justice Reviews Merritt Murder Case

In Giving Judgment Ordering New Trial for Three Indians, He Analyzes Evidence

Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald in delivering judgment in the Court of Appeal here in the appeal of the Indians, Richardson, Eneas and Alex George, against the death sentences imposed by Mr. Justice Murphy for the slaying of Indian Police Constable Gisborne at the Canford Reserve, near Merritt, reviewed in detail the events connected with the alleged crime and discussed exhaustively the resulting legal problems.

The court, by three to two, ordered a new trial for the condemned man. The chief Justice, who delivered the finding of the court, was supported in his stand by Mr. Justice Martin and Mr. Justice McPhillips.

The case proved to be one of the most important criminal appeals in recent years and with the Attorney-General of the province taking personal charge of the prosecution, and Stuart Henderson, veteran master of criminal defence, conducting the fight for the Indians, it attracted an unusually wide measure of public interest.

The complete judgment of Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald is:

"I will give a broad statement of the principal facts. On May 23, 1934, one of the appellants, Eneas George, committed an assault upon his wife at the Canford Indian Reserve and wounded her almost unto death with a knife. As soon as the news reached the Indian agent at Merritt some eight miles away, he sent Constable Gisbourne and Dr. Gillies Jr., to investigate and, if necessary, bring the woman in to the hospital. They did so and found her very seriously injured, put her in their car and were on their way back to Merritt when they met at a place called Fraser's Store, Joseph George, a brother of Eneas, on his way in to the Indian village from an adjoining reserve for the purpose of rendering assistance to his brother's children. Joseph had been advised that morning by an Indian horseman of the offence against his sister-in-law. Gis-

STORE WAGES ARE STUDIED

Federal Business Inquiry Commission Asks About Food Chain Figures

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Low wages paid clerks and managers in food chain stores are attributable to the chain system of making a low percentage of profit on a high turnover of goods, the parliamentary mass buying commission was advised to-day by its counsel, Norman Sommerville.

Another discussion of chain wages was prompted by the statement of J. G. Johnston, secretary of the Canadian Chain Store Association, that chains paid higher average salaries than independent merchants. The chains, he said, admitted they paid low wages, but they hoped to increase them when business recovered from the grip of depression.

COMPUTATIONS MADE

The chain system was to blame for the low wages, Mr. Sommerville declared, and one one or two commissioners agreed with him. The counsel said, for instance, that if Stop and Shop Limited had increased wages 10 per cent it would have operated last year at a loss of $24,000. Similarly, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, on the same hypothesis, would have had a loss of $87,174, and Dominion Stores Limited would have decreased profits from $339,000 to $181,000.

These figures showed, Mr. Sommerville contended, the chains ran at such a low percentage of profit they were forced "to operate at the expense of their employees."

"I do not think so," Mr. Johnston interjected.

Sam Factor, Liberal M.P. for Toronto West Centre, said commission auditors had computed the food chains paid 816 male employees an average of $12.69 a week and 480 women clerks $13.31. "Surely you admit $12.69 is too low a wage," he said.

"Regrettably low," Mr. Johnston agreed.

Trans-canada Plane Service Next Year

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Dec. 13.—Declaring the route will be completed by the fall of 1935, K. E. Whyte of Regina, district inspector for Western Airways, said here to-day in an interview that he expected the operation of a trans-canada air mail service by 1936.

"While we have no definite information, we expect it by that time," he said.

He declared emergency landing fields were being built in the Crow's Nest Pass in the Rocky Mountains, while ten fields had been hewn out in the forests of Ontario.

Mr. Whyte was accompanied here by Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope of the civil aviation department, Ottawa.

WILLIAM POEL DIES IN LONDON

"GIVE A JOB"

The object of the "Give a Job" campaign is to distribute purchasing power through a wide distribution of present available employment to create additional work, thereby reducing the number of persons requiring direct financial relief.

"The unanimous and patriotic support of this idea will prove that the public has the welfare of fellow men and women at heart," an official of the Employment Service of Canada said this morning.

In the matter of supplying the man or woman for extra work created the Employment Service of Canada will be pleased to fill any order from a large list of registrations of those in need of a job.

New Zealand-British Meat Agreement Made

London, Dec. 13.—An agreement between Britain and New Zealand regulating the latter's meat exports to the United Kingdom has been arranged for 1935, the House of Commons was told to-day by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions.

A definite programme has been arranged for the first quarter and the effect of the agreement is that New Zealand will send approximately 11 per cent more meat than in the same period of 1932, preceding the Ottawa pacts.

TWO STARS IN RADIO DEBUT

Two Dollars Is Donated to Gyros to Get Prominent Citizens Off the Air

Two new radio stars burst out upon the Victorian air yesterday evening, and what is more a large price was paid for the privilege of hearing them. They were Johnny V. Johnson and Len Woodhouse, who, with a commendable absence of microphone fright, sang "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing" into the mikes of CFCT in the second of the Gyro Club Hamper Fund appeal programmes. A total of $260 was raised last night.

Incidentally some thoughtful person donated the sum of $2 to get them off the air once they really got going.

Another musical feature of the show was a somewhat censored version of that great ballad "Barnacle Bill, the Sailor," rendered by Louis Glazen, and which brought in three sacks of potatoes. The potatoes were sent up in the sacks, not thrown individually.

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAMME

To-night's programme is sure to have an even larger audience than the first two, for it is understood that many listeners have been phoning their friends to tell them that they can get real entertainment without going to distant spots like Los Angeles or Salt Lake City.

This evening Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited will be on the air on behalf of the campaign. The company will be represented by Guy Langton, and their programme will include vocal solos by Dudley Wickett, Thomas Kelway and F. J. Mitchell, a piano solo by William Irving, an act by Master Harry Morrison, juvenile Al Jolson, and classical and jazz piano selections by Miss Vera Critchard.

SAYS HUSBAND IS STILL ALIVE

But Los Angeles Woman Will Not Sue for Divorce in Rio de Janeiro

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Dec. 13.—Lee Schlesinger, department store executive, drove his automobile into the Columbia River near Portland, Oregon, and fled to South America two years ago because of financial reverses, in the opinion of his wife expressed in a copyrighted interview published to-day in The Los Angeles Examiner.

His actions were not inspired by marital difficulties, the newspaper quoted Mrs. Schlesinger, adding that she asserted she had no intention of bringing suit for divorce against her husband, who recently was discovered living in Rio de Janeiro under an assumed name.

Demand Made Bennett Ministry, Lacking Public Confidence, Bring On Vote

Delegates Approve King's Leadership

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—Demanding immediate dissolution of Parliament and a general election and expressing complete confidence in the leadership of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the National Liberal Federation to-day wound up its annual meeting here.

The meeting, under the presidency of Hon. Vincent Massey, to-day disposed of business with great speed, and delegates were ready to go home early in the afternoon. The sessions were opened yesterday.

From the resolutions committee came a declaration of confidence in Mr. King, which was given the unanimous approval of the general meeting, and a resolution of censure of the Bennett government and demand for a general election. Both were moved by Hon. T. A. Crerar and seconded by Hon. E. B. Power, M.P. for Quebec South.

CABINET LACKS CONFIDENCE

The second resolution, which was also approved by the meeting, reads as follows:

"Whereas the people have repeatedly and emphatically expressed their lack of confidence in the present administration, and whereas there can be no moral authority or sanction behind policies enunciated or measures proposed by the present moribund and impotent government, whose continuance in office under existing circumstances has brought about hesitancy and timidity in the conduct by citizens of their day-to-day affairs and engenders fear and uncertainty for the future;

"Now be it resolved that this National Liberal Federation, in annual meeting assembled, with representatives present from each of the nine provinces of Canada, declares its adherence to the basic and fundamental principle of democratic institutions, that no government should remain in office which no longer enjoys the confidence of the people and has forfeited the support of the people whom it purports to represent, and demands the immediate dissolution of parliament and a general election."

During the forenoon matters of organization and policy were taken up.

CIVIC VOTE TO-DAY FAIR

About 1,000 Ballots Marked by Noon; Bulletin Service Arranged

Prospects of a fair civic election vote were seen this afternoon with the major rush expected to extend from 2 o'clock until 7 o'clock when the polls will close at the Public Market Building.

At noon to-day about 1,000 had used the franchise. Reports indicated the women's vote would be comparatively heavy this year, with aspirants in the lists for both City Council and school board seats.

The voting is expected to attain its maximum volume shortly after 5 o'clock this evening when those engaged in business around the city start to pour into the polling station.

BULLETIN SERVICE

To keep subscribers and the public in general informed on the progress of the elections, The Times will carry a special bulletin service in its Broad Street windows. The first count is expected to go up shortly after the counting starts at the Market Building and a running series of figures on the various candidates will be given until the official count is concluded.

Information on the results will be available to those telephoning The Times on the following lines: Empire 7177, Empire 7522 and Empire 4175.

Revolt Rumors Sweep Havana

Tension Grows Following Raid by Police on Opposition Newspaper Office

Havana, Dec. 13—The strong ABC political society said to-day an allegedly government-inspired raid on its newspaper, Accion, was "equivalent to a declaration of war."

The statement of the society's central committee came as the government took every precaution against uprisings. Rumors of impending revolt raced over the island, torn by months of poltical dissension and violence.

Yesterday evening a group of armed men entered the editorial rooms of the anti-government newspaper Accion, official organ of the ABC group, and forced nine editorial workers to accompany them to the outskirts of Havana, where the victims were made to take castor oil.

Forty armed police took over offices of the newspaper. They told the editors "there will be no paper this morning on orders of Colonel Pedraza (chief of Havana police)."

The ABC Society broke several months ago with the government of President Carlos Mendieta, forcing its members in the cabinet to resign.

Rumors flooded Havana, which was on edge. The government has suspended constitution guarantees in every province save one. Extra vigilance was noted throughout the city. Many police appeared for duty armed with rifles.

QUARANTINE LIFTED

The smallpox quarantine which halted their eastward journey when it was found a man aboard had contracted the disease, was lifted entirely to-day.

FIVE HELD IN CAPTURE CASE

Rochester Man Says He Was Imprisoned in Hotel Room for Eight Hours

Associated Press

Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 13.—Five men held by police for questioning in connection with the story of Frederick E. Peeler, Canadian securities stock broker, that he had been held captive for eight hours in a downtown hotel room and threatened with death unless he paid his captors $7,000, pleaded not guilty to vagrancy charges in city court to-day and their cases were adjourned till December 18.

The men identified themselves as Patrick O'Sullivan, thirty-seven, broker, married, Toronto; Roy Roberts, thirty, broker, married, Toronto; Maxwell Spiegelman, thirty-four, real estate man, married, Philadelphia; and Clifford Edwards, thirty-four, broker, Long Beach, Cal., and Toronto. Another man and woman were placed under police guard at the hotel when the man complained of illness.

Peeler was released by police shortly before midnight.

His release was effected as a result of the quick thinking of his office secretary, who notified police after her suspicions were aroused by a telephone call she received from her employer late yesterday evening.

Peeler told police that a 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he received a telephone call at his office to go to room 616 in Hotel Seneca to transact a stock deal.

He went to the hotel to find five men in the room. They informed him he was a prisoner, he told police, and threatened him with death unless he signed a cheque for $7,000.

Naval Adjournment Discussed In London

London, Dec. 13.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-large, heads of the British and United States naval delegations, met again to-day at No. 10 Downing Street and discussed how long the tri-power naval talks with Japan shall stand adjourned.

Whether it is to be an adjournment over Christmas, as the Japanese favor; an adjournment until the spring, as the British favor; or an adjournment indefinitely, as the Americans favor, was the question, and according to the British no decision has yet been reached.

Girl Is Held on Murder Charges

Sister and Brother in Ontario Shot; Doctors Say Mind Unbalanced

Canadian Press

Cobourg, Ont., Dec. 13. — Two charges of murder were laid to-day against Marjorie Thompson, nineteen-year-old Murray Township girl alleged to have shot and killed her small brother and sister as they lay in bed yesterday evening.

The girl appeared in magistrate's court, heard the charges against her and was remanded until December 20.

Marjorie, said by physicians to be suffering from a maniacal depression which previously had not caused her to become violent, was arrested after Ina, ten and Neil, nine, had been shot and killed yesterday evening. Police said the girl shot them with a .22-calibre rifle with which her father, Blake Thompson, had been hunting rabbits during the day. They said she had taken it from Thompson's automobile.

The girl was seized by her brother Lloyd, fourteen, after Neil had been shot. Neil was lying in bed with Lloyd's twin brother Floyd. Floyd said Lloyd seized the rifle from the girl and that they shouted for their father, who helped them overcome her.

REFUSED TO EAT

Lloyd said Marjorie had behaved abnormally during the evening and had refused to eat. He added the family was not alarmed at her condition as it occurred frequently.

Although they laid two charges of murder against the girl, police said they were convinced she was insane. They added her parents had requested she be left in their custody rather than be sent to an institution and that they had cared for her lavishly.

A preliminary inquest was held to-day at the home of a neighbor of the Thompson's and adjourned till a later date. Meanwhile, preparations were launched for the funeral of the victims. The bodies will be buried side by side in one grave.

INSIST ON FULL ARMS INQUIRY

Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 13. — A warning that any attempt to sidetrack the United States Senate arms inquiry woud lead to a bitter fight in Congress came to-day from members of the investigating committee as President Roosevelt's independent move to make war profitless got under way.

At the same time it became clear the programme to be drawn by Bernard M. Baruch, Hugh S. Johnson and other prominent New Deslers named yesterday by the President probably will centre around these cardinal points:

1. Should war break out, prices would be "frozen" immediately to prevent skyrocketing.

2. War profits would be seized by drastic taxation. A 1932 report of the war policies commission, on which the President's new board will base its study, urged a 95 per cent tax on all income above "the previous three-year average."

3. Machinery would be created for the swift mobilization of the nation's industrial resources in time of conflict.

OPINIONS VOICED

Administration officials strove today to remove an unconcealed feeling by some members of the Senate munitions committee that the President's move was designed to check the Senate inquiry.

Four of the seven senators on the munitions committee agreed the inquiry would go ahead. They planned to plunge to-day into an investigation of how the War Department procures its supplies.

"There will be a ruckus on the Senate floor if anyone tries to throttle this inquiry through stopping a new appropriation," said Senator Clark, Missouri Democrat.

He added the committee would welcome any White House suggestions and "consider them."

bourne told Joseph that he would come back later in the day to arrest Eneas. They then parted, and Joseph proceeded to Eneas's house and was told that his brothers the appellants were repairing a fence somewhere on the reserve. He proceeded to find his brothers and remained with them from that time, namely late in the afternoon, until midnight when they together were proceeding to the Indian village, [illegible] Gisbourne at point X on the photograph, Exhibit B1. Gisbourne had gone out late in the evening taking Constable Carr with him to make the arrest. He arrived close to midnight and after searching the village for Eneas and not finding him met the four Indians at the said point X on a road leading to the Indian huts. He advanced towards them and said 'I want Eneas.' One of the brothers said to him 'Who sent you?' He answered 'Barber' (the Indian agent). Gisborne said 'Nobody can stop me. I am going to perform my duty.' He grabbed Eneas saying 'I am going to take this man to Merritt.' He appears to have thought that the arrest was being objected to, and called to Constable Carr, who was some distance away, 'Come over. We are going to take all these men.' Then Richardson George called to his brothers to "get hold of the policemen. We are going to fight them.' He then grappled with Gisbourne who was then thrown down. Richardson got Gisbourne's torchlight and struck him on the head several times with it, the others taking part in the fight. Having got to his feet and recognizing that he was overmatched Gisbourne turned and retreated down the road, the Indians at his heels, Eneas striking him with a stick. On reaching the point Z marked on the said plan about 200 feet from X, the officer turned on his assailants and drawing an automatic pistol fired a shot. Joseph, who was with his brothers, stepped or staggered back a few paces and fell. There was a wound on his face which the medical testimony suggested might indicate the grazed wound of a bullet. Joseph, it afterwards appeared, had lost his hearing and sustained a concussion of the brain which the medical testimony said could not have been caused by the wound on the face, but was probably caused by his hitting his head on a stone or other hard substance.

"After the firing of the shot Richardson seized a large stick of wood and struck Gisbourne over the head with it, killing him on the spot. Carr, who had been standing by his automobile a short distance away, rushed to the rescue of Gisbourne and was also killed. The appellants then carried the body of Joseph into the chief's house, when it was discovered that he was not dead. Some significant remarks were made by appellants when Gisbourne was killed. A cry of rage arose from the appellants when Joseph, whom they thought had been killed, fell—'Sway (Joseph) is dead. We are going to kill the policemen,' which they did as aforesaid.

"That, I think, is a fair statement of the facts leading up to and including the homicide of Gisbourne. Was it culpable homicide or merely excusable homicide resulting from the affray? That question depends upon whether the arrest was lawful or not. Section 40 of the Criminal Code provides the things to be done by an officer when making an arrest. The only defect in the arrest was the failure of Gisbourne to notify Eneas of the cause of it. It was his statutory duty to do this if practicable. On a proper charge the jury might, and I think would, have found it entirely practicable on the facts above stated. The jury was not instructed upon this point of the case. Had they been so instructed it might have appeared, and I think it would have appeared that Gisbourne had not done all that was necessary to a valid arrest. He had ample opportunity to tell Eneas why he was being arrested. It is said that Section 40 is an affirmance of the common law, but even if this be so it must receive its proper construction. It is true that in Pews case, 2 Cro. 183, referred to in a note to R. v. Ricketts, 3 Camp. 68, it was thought unnecessary because there the prisoner was quite well aware of what he was accused of. He was caught in the act. The use of the words 'where practicable' seems to me to make the section more imperative where it is practicable. The question of practicability was one of fact for the jury and they should have been instructed on that point in the charge. There being therefore what might have been found by the jury to be no notice to Eneas of the offence of which he was charged, it was open to them to find that the arrest was unlawful and that the case was reduced to that of a mere affray, and if an affray, the action of Gisbourne in threatening the appellants and Joseph with death was, in my opinion, legal justification for the homicide of Gisbourne. It was done on the spur of the moment with no time for their passions to cool.

"The validity of the conviction depends for its support on the validity of the arrest of Eneas and the affray which followed, since it was one transaction. I think it must be conceded that Gisborne was a peace officer, section 2, sub-section 26 of the Code, also that a warrant was unnecessary, sections 273 and 274 of the Code; but it must be noted that the arresting officer failed to perform the statutory duty imposed upon him to notify Eneas of the crime of which he was charged. There was a suggestion by the Attorney-General that in a case where the prisoner must have known the crime for which he was being arrested, it was unnecessary to tell him. It is said to be the common law and that it gets some support from Pow's case, supra. But I think that where the necessary acts to be performed in making a lawful arrest are stated in a statute and one of them is that the prisoner should be notified of the cause of his arrest, the statute should be strictly construed to carry out the intention of the Legislature, see also Barker v. Palmer, 8 Q.B.D. at p. 10; Rex v. Harvey, 1 Wilson's Reports 164; Rex v. Hugh Carey, Cox's Cr. C. 214; Beal, p. 497.

"Here on a proper direction in the charge to the jury the jury might well have found that the duty imposed by section 40 of the Code was neglected without justification and that the arrest was unlawful, which would, of course, have put an entirely different complexion upon the case. It is clear from the authorities that in a mere affray where one person is killed, there being justification, the charge of murder may be reduced to manslaughter. Further, eliminating the validity of the arrest there was sufficient ground upon which the jury could find that the homicide of Gisborne was manslaughter not murder. There being no instruction to the jury on this pivotal point, I think the conviction must be set aside and a new trial ordered.

"It may be that had Gisborne told Eneas why he was being arrested and had treated the Indian diplomatically Eneas might have submitted quietly to the arrest and the unfortunate circumstances which I have related avoided. The officer was dealing with Indians, wards of the overnment, who might very well have been tractable to an officer coming in contact with them as Gisborne did. Without wishing to reflect too much on the officer, I think he was rather peremptory in his bearing towards the Indians."

Austrian Officials Face Accusations

Vienna, Dec. 13.—The semi-official newspaper Reichspost to-day announced the arrest of three officials of the Foreign Office, charged with subversive activities against the present Fascist regime.

An investigation revealed these officials sold highly important state documents to persons hostile to the Austrian government, the newspaper reported.

DEATH LIST TWENTY-SIX

Associated Press

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 13.—As the sorrowful task of digging through the ruins of fire-swept Kerns Hotel went forward here to-day, state police listed twenty-six "known dead," with twenty-three bodies recovered, sixteen of them identified.

Eleven bodies, of which the consuming flames left little more than skeletons, had been taken from the ice-sheeted debris of what once was one of the state capital's popular meeting places. All were beyond identification except for a few personal effects, such as rings or other trinkets found with some of them.

The mortality lits among the guests who sought escape from the flames by jumping from upper windows to the street or into the Grand River, which flows at the rear of the hostelry site, was increased by one when State Representative D. Knox Hanna of Tuscola County died of his injuries. He was the seventh member of the state legislature to die, six of them representatives and one a senator.

DEADLOCK BROKEN

The tragedy broke an impending deadlock in the next House of Representatives. Fifty Republicans and fifty Democrats were elected, or re-elected. Three re-elected Republicans and one re-elected Democrat died, leaving the Democrats thoretically in control, pending special elections, which cannot be held before the house organizes for its regular session in January.

At least three bodies were found in the ruins this forenoon and moved to a temporary morgue set up in a nearby warehouse.

Naval Adjournment Discussed in London

COMPROMISE FAILED

Despite the two months' negotiations the fundamental differences over the Japanese claim remain unchanged. Japan insists on her determination not to accept a naval level lower than that of Britain and the United States, and neither Britain nor the United States is ready to accept absolute parity. Britain, without success, made efforts to reconcile the two viewpoints.

The general impression is the present naval talks, so far as hope of an effective accomplishment is concerned, are already dead, and the three delegations are merely sparring to escape responsibility for the breakdown.

Speculation meanwhile turned to the possible substitute arrangements to replace the Washington and London pacts which will become defunct at the end of 1936 through Japanese denunciation. Both Japan and the United States are desirous of a naval accord with Britain, it is said.

While the British have privately intimated they might welcome an agreement later with the United States, they have been and will continue to do everything possible to retain friendly relations with Japan. For this reason separate accords with both Tokio and Washington are considered possible.

Mayor-elect McGeer Promises Go-ahead Plans for Vancouver

"I have given many years of my life to this city, and I will watch its ftuture with the keenest interest."

TWO NECKTIES

A flaming red four-in-hand traditionally adorns the Taylor collar, and Mr. McGeer explained:

"Citizens of Vancouver know my policy is 'Go ahead, Vancouver; don't stand still.' They realized it every time they came to a corner where there was a traffic signal. If they were in a hurry and the light flashed 'Stand where you are,' they realized more and more that McGeer was the only man to 'Go ahead'."

The mayor-elect is already a member of the British Columbia Legislature, having been elected from Vancouver-Burrard as a Liberal in last year's general election. He has denounced the Pattullo government, however, on the ground that it has not pursued monetary policies which he considers in keeping with Liberal principles. He has indicated an intention to try to secure the Liberal nomination in Burrard in the next Dominion election.

ALDERMANIC CONTESTS

Aldermanic elections in five wards yesterday saw the election to the City Council of a former mayor, C. E. Tisdall, who was the successful candidate in Ward One, where he defeated Alderman J. H. Shinnick and former Alderman E. W. Dean.

Another alderman was defeated, Walter Deptford losing in Ward Seven to H. D. Wilson.

Alderman H. J. de Graves was re-elected in Ward Four, Alderman W. W. Smith in Ward Six, and Alderman W. H. Lembke in Ward Ten.

Alderman G. C. Miller had been re-elected by acclamation in Ward Two. Other wards did not vote this year

SCHOOLS AND PARKS

Trustees Thomas Brooks, G. T. Cunningham, Lilette J. C. Mahon, Annie B. Jamieson and R. H. Neelands were re-elected to the School Borad.

Commissioner E. G. Baynes, J. W. Cornett, Fred Crone and Commissioner Alex. McDonald were elected to the Parks Board.

MAYOR-ELECT'S PLANS

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—Vancouver will be a crimeless city in three months, G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P.P., mayor-elect, declared to-day.

"The police force will be reorganized and the city hall will be reorganized," Mr. McGeer said. "In fact, the programme outlined on my election platform will be carried out."

He believes, however, the election result is the response of the city to his views on monetary reform.

"My majority is a clear indication that reactionaries in the realm of monetary economy have got to give way," he said. "Men like Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and Hon. John Hart, who persist in maintaining the view that governments must finance by exchanging interest-bearing public credit for non-interest-bearing private credit, must change their views or they will be swept aside.

"They are just as foolish as was Canute when he ordered the waves of the sea to retire. The demand of the public is for progress. Governments must find a way to finance progress. We have learned we cannot finance either public or private enterprise by pyramiding debt into impossible burdens.

"I was definite with the public on the issue of monetary reform. I asked for a majority on that issue, which would be heard on St. James Street. The third largest city in Canada by its vote has gone straight to the left on the issue of currency and credit management."

DOLLAR GAINS ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 13.—The Canadian dollar steadied on the foreign exchange market here to-day after yesterday's sharp drop. The Dominion dollar closed at 15-16 per cent premium, up 1-16 net. Both sterling and the French franc were lower. The pound was off half a cent at $4.94 while the franc, closing at 6.59⅞ cents, showed a loss of 00⅛ of a cent.

Exchange rates at 3 p.m., E.S.T., to-day, were:

U.S. dollar in Montreal, .99 1-16.

TWO STARS IN RADIO DEBUT

REQUESTS

The irrepressible Bob Smith, only Scots master-of-ceremonies in captivity, will not be absent, and the usual attention will be given to requests. These may be phoned over the three telephones now in action at the radio stations, G 2014, CFCT's own phone, and G 8106 and G 8107, presented to the Gyros by the Blue Ribbon Tea Company through J. A. Barnswell.

"No, out of profits."

"They are letting supply and demand, plus the minimum wage laws, set wages," interjected J. L. Ilsley, Liberal, Hants-Kings, N.S.

"That is the crux of the thing," agreed Chairman W. W. Kennedy.

CLOSE COMPETITION

In defence of the chains' wage levels, Mr. Johnston said "you cannot get blood out of a stone." The close competition in the Canadian grocery trade would not permit the raising of prices to pay for increased wages at the present time.

The Chain Association secretary made a veiled reference to a report made some months ago by the Bureau of Statistics and which was favorable to the chains, in relation to wages. He asked why it had not been produced before the commission.

Mr. Sommerville said he had never heard of the bureau report.

"Was it prepared for the commission?" Mr. Young, M.P. for Weyburn, Sask., asked.

"That is what I was told."

"I think we should find out about it."

"Yes, we will find out about it," agreed the chairman.

R. MINGER NEW SWISS PRESIDENT

Associated Press

Berne, Switzerland, Dec. 13. — Rodolphe Minger, reorganizer of the Swiss army, was named President of the Swiss Confederation for 1935 by the Federal Assembly to-day.

Minger, who appears at army manoeuvres on horseback wearing a Prince Albert coat and a Derby hat, has captured the imagination of the Swiss people. He is credited with having reinforced the country's defences while minister of war.

The President of the confederation is chief magistrate of the country, but holds little executive power. He serves for one year only and is not eligible for election to succeed himself, but may serve alternate terms.

GAINS MADE IN CANCER FIGHT

Hospital Chairman Tells of Hopes Based on Manchester Physician's Work

Canadian Press

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 13—Developments in the long search for an efficient cancer treatment which might prove "astonishing" might eventuate here next year, according to W. R. Douglas, chairman of the Christie Hospital.

He described to-day how a doctor near Manchester is treating cancer on new lines, which are claimed to have cured some cases and to have stabilized others or produced a retrogression of the disease. It is further claimed the doctor is able to diagnose by certain tests whether a patient is about to become a victim of cancer.

The treatment and the name of the physician are being kept secret until it is possible, about twelve months hence, fairly to judge the value of his work.

Vancouver By-law Vote Recount

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—Endorsement of a money by-law to divert $630,000 unexpended civic moneys for the erection of a city hall to-day lacked only fifty-five votes and, with nearly 4,000 rejected ballots, a recount was planned.

Ratepayers yesterday voted 16,116 for and 10,836 against the by-law. A three-fifths majority was necessary.

Another by-law to divert $20,910 unexpended funds for construction of a civic swimming pool carried, 17,001 for and 8,224 against.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe's Tour Near End

Ontario Quintuplets' Physician Guest at Functions in New York

Canadian Press

New York, Dec. 13. — To-morrow Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe will depart for the restful quiet of northern Ontario.

The programme of the last day in New York of the Dionne quintuplets' doctor was as hectic as have been the others since he reached New York last Sunday on his first vacation in twenty-five years.

This morning he was received by Cardinal Hayes, and at noon was the luncheon guest of the public nurses' service of the Henry Street Settlement. Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the United States President, proferred the invitation. In the evening, the pediatrics section of the Academy of Medicine will banquet him.

FLEW YESTERDAY

Dr. Dafoe continued his triumphal swing yesterday with a trip to Washington to discuss babies with President Roosevelt and to see his first negro baby in Baltimore. Going and coming he flew by passenger plane and when they landed him at the Newark airport just before nightfall he said of his first airtrip, "Very pleasant."

At Baltimore in the afternoon he visited at Johns Hopkins Hospital with the doctors Kelly—father, son and grandson. Soon, one or more of the Drs. Kelly will re-visit Callander, Ont., to apply another treatment to the tumor of one of baby Marie Dionne's legs.

In the Johns Hopkins maternity ward the good doctor played with the first negro baby he ever set his experienced eyes on.

HIS FIGHT IN 1928

He recalled for reporters the time he had fighting northern Ontario's share of the influenza epidemic of 1928. That only five of his 1,800 patients succumbed he thought overshadowed in his medical career even the delivery of "those cute Dionnes."

Of course, the experience with the babies was a greater thrill. He recommended babies for all women. Unless she has at least one baby, he said, no woman's life is complete.

Dr. Dafoe's visit in New York has been a vacation in that he has done the things and seen the things he could not in his own pine-fringed habitat of the north. But his eyes were a little less twinkling as he ambled off to bed early this morning after the third straight night in the glare of Broadway.

Several Men Flee As Liquor Trial Date Comes Near

The people accused in the various districts are being warned by R.C.M.P. officers to leave for Montreal, where they will be arraigned in a short time. Orders have been issued to arrest and hold all who fail to accept the offer to surrender voluntarily.

It is understood the four Bronfman brothers—Sam, Allan, Harry and Abraham — will surrender voluntarily and with them the three other Montrealers said to be named in the conspiracy.

Superintendent F. J. Mead, Quebec Division, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was reported in Quebec City. It was intimated his visit may have something to do with the reported seizure of a suspected rum runner in the lower reaches of the St. Lawrence River.

VISIT TORONTO

Toronto, Dec. 13.—Sam and Allan Bronfman arrived here from Ottawa to-day and registered at a downtown hotel. Telephoned at their suite, one of the brothers answered and said:

"We are only here for a few hours on business. Be a right guy, and don't ask too many questions."

Beyond that he resisted good-naturedly any efforts to obtain information.

RED CHINESE TROOPS ESCAPE

Associated Press

Hongkong, Dec. 13.—Sixty thousand Chinese Communists had eluded 1,990,000 Chinese troops to-day and as a result the relations between the Nationalist government at Nanking and autonomy-aspiring Canton were strained again.

Publication of a telegram in which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Nationalist government military leader, assailed General Pei Chung-hsi of Kwangsi province for permitting the Reds to escape was announced in Canton dispatches yesterday.

Pei Chung-hsi replied, bitterly expressing astonishment over the criticism and asserting his forces had been engaged in "a single-handed battle for five days against heavy odds" in an attempt to round up the Communists.

The fleeing Communists were planning to establish a Soviet state in western China.

A compromise agreement relieving the hostile relations between Nanking and Canton was believed to have been reached four days ago. At that time a mission to Canton succeeded in persuading Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces to send delegates to the Kuomintang (National Party) congress at Nanking this week.

Banishment of Communists, a menace to the Nationalist government ever since it came into power, has been one of the primary objectives of General Chiang Kai-shek. He said last week he believed a victory over the Reds in western China would eliminate the movement from the country forever.

Dionnes Not Yet Invited to U.S.

Canadian Press

Callander, Ont., Dec. 13.—Oliva Dionne, father of Callander's famous quintuplet sisters, yesterday broke his customary silence long enough to deny reports that he and his wife had received an invitation to visit the United States.

Dionne would not say what he would do if they were invited. He declared he would wait until he was invited and decide what to do afterwards.

Meanwhile the babies were placed out of doors for two hours for the first time in a week. Dr. G. P. Hamblin, their physician during the absence in the United States of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, said he considered a rise in the temperature to 27 above zero made the weather safe for the children.

Writer Ends Life In Mexico City

Associated Press

Mexico City, Dec. 13.—The body of Guillermo Nardi, thirty-eight, well-known Italian journalist and anti-Catholic writer who used the pen name of Guillermo Delhors, was found yesterday in a trunk in his rooming house.

Although the trunk was closed, police said the finding of several letters convinced them Nardi had taken his own life by firing a bullet into his mouth because of despondency over an old illness.

Friends of Nardi said he was excommunicated by the Pope some years ago because of his book "The Catholic Church Judged By Criticism, Thought and Art."

SUICIDE AT SINGAPORE

Y. Nishimura, Japanese, Being Questioned by Police; Took Poison

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Singapore, Dec. 13.—The death of a leader of the Japanese colony here while being questioned by secret service operatives, it was disclosed today, was due to poison, apparently self-inflicted.

He was Y. Nishimura, president of the Singapore Japanese Association and managing director of a mining company. Two other prominent members of the Japanese community were arrested after Nishimura's death. Rumors said authorities were investigating alleged Japanese espionage. A modern naval base is being constructed at Singapore by the British government, along with a military airdrome.

Woman Awarded Heavy Damages

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—Judgment for $4,458 damages has been awarded Mrs. Minnie Emma Light against the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court to compensate her for injuries suffered on January 11 last when alighting from a street car. She claimed the car started while she was alighting.

Duncan

Duncan, Dec. 13.—The regular meeting of the A.Y.P.A. was held in Duncan Tuesday evening. It was a "Fellowship" night, and fifteen members from Ladysmith, four from Chemainus and twenty from Duncan were present. Norman Shuttcott presided and introduced the guest speaker, Rev. E. O. Robathan of Chemainus. He spoke on the A.Y.P.A.—what it does, what it means and what it is—and afterwards on the "Fellowship of the Church." Clive Hoskins spoke on the "History of Christmas," Helen Lemon on "Christmas in Holland," "Leonie Langlois on "Christmas in France," Eileen Langlois on "Christmas in Poland," and Jim Macdonald on "Christmas in Jugoslavia."

The study group of the P.-T.A. met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Corfield, Duncan, Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. W. R. Smythe acted as leader. A discussion was held on the affairs of the Boys' Club, which is being organized. Regular meetings are expected to start early in the New Year. Miss Homfray of the Cowichan Health Centre gave an address on "The Common Cold." During tea Mrs. W. Dobson and Mrs. Piper gave vocal solos.

MADE RECORD MOTOR TRIP

Chic Sale Traveled Across Continent in Eighty-nine Hours in Graham Paige

Detroit, Dec. 13.—No announcement has been made of Chic Sale's intention to qualify for the 500 miles sweepstakes at Indianapolis next May. It is indicated, however, by his performance on a recent trip to California in a new Graham Paige, that he must be in training for the event.

A friend of Mr. Sale took delivery of the car in Detroit and left there at 11.45 a.m. Friday; met Mr. Sale in Urbana, Ill., and left that point at 3 p.m. Saturday. Not even stopping in St. Louis, the actor-author continued driving until Sunday night at 8.30 when he and his companion paused for a rest at Fort Worth, Tex. By Monday night at 9.30 they had made the 600 miles from Fort Worth to El Paso and at the same hour on Tuesday evening they were in Indio, California., another 734 miles. The jaunt from Indio to Hollywood was made in two hours, placing them at Mr. Sale's destination at 9.40 a.m. Wednesday.

The trip from Urbana to Hollywood had taken exactly eighty-nine hours—2,511 miles at an average running time of seventy miles per hour.

JOLIET PRISON CHRISTMAS PARTY

Associated Press

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 13.—Warden Frank D. Whipp has promised to play Santa Claus at the Stateville penitentiary provided the 6,000 inmates promise to be "good boys" and slip no dangerous tools in their stockings.

As proof of their good faith the 6,000 were asked to-day to turn in anonymously such contraband as knives, forks, chisels and saws in exchange for a merry Christmas party.

In the yard of each prison, the new and the old, Warden Whipp said, would be placed a large box wherein prisoners might deposit the forbidden implements unobserved.

Balanced Abundance Is Farm Plan in U.S.

The report placed emphasis on the fundamental philosophy behind present activities, particularly those of [illegible]

If restriction of farm production conflicts with democracy it should be abandoned, he admitted, "but man's right to live transcends all other considerations."

LIFE TERM FOR DESERT SLAYING

A. C. Wilson Found Guilty by Texas Jury of Killing Woman Companion

Associated Press

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13.—Arthur C. Wilson was convicted of murder for the desert slaying of Mrs. Irene de Bolt, Cleveland, Ohio, widow, this morning by a jury which fixed his penalty at life imprisonment.

Before a courtroom crowded with women, the jury of twelve men, which began its deliberations at 5.55 yesterday afternoon, brought in a written verdict.

Mrs. de Bolt was found slain west of Van Horn, Texas, November 7, 1933, the body stripped of clothing and $1,650 in currency. Her automobile was missing.

The prosecution said Wilson, her companion on an automobile trip westward from Cleveland, had beaten and strangled her to death for her money. He was arrested while employed on a Canadian liner plying between Montreal and Port of Spain, Trinidad.

WOULD WORK WITH STEVENS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 13.—Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman member of Parliament, yesterday evening told more than 500 members of the United Farmers of Ontario that if the Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., or Hon. W. D. Euler, M.P., would take an independent position on some progressive measure of immediate possibility "there would be nothing to prevent her, if elected, from working with them."

Miss MacPhail, who was scheduled to speak at the U.F.O. convention, said Mr. Stevens, who was scheduled to speak at the U.F.O. convention, said there was nothing to prevent her from working with them "if they were going in her direction, even if they were going only part way."

She believed Mr. Euler, former Liberal Minister of National Revenue, was the most courageous member of the opposition, but her address was concerned more with the position of Mr. Stevens.

"Hon. H. H. Stevens has won the hearts of the people in Canada, and certainly the hearts of the farmers," Miss MacPhail said. "He has won their hearts because of his willingness to work for the inarticulate masses, to use his own phrase, and because of his willingness to make a real personal sacrifice to do these things. Such willingness in high places is so rare in Canada it leaves us gasping."

Miss MacPhail said the world was coming to the end of an era devoted to production for profit, and beginning one devoted to production for use, ending one of competition to begin one of co-operation. The emphasis had been on material values, but was now being placed upon human values.

Toronto Family Now Has Eleven Children in "Stork Sweepstakes"

Canadian Pre

Toronto, Dec. 13.—A baby girl who may be worth half a million dollars to her in October, 1936, was born this week to Mrs. Matthew Kenny, apparently leading contender in the Charles Vance Miller "stork sweepstakes."

This addition to the Kenny family gives Mrs. Kenny eleven children registered at the vital statistics department since the millionaire sportsman-lawyer died in 1926, leaving the bulk of his estate to the Toronto mother who gave birth to the greatest number of children in the ten years following his death.

Mrs. Kenny now leads Mrs. Grace Bagnato, court interpreter, who anticipates this week having her ninth child since 1926. Mrs. Kenny is reported to be disappointed. She had for some time been expecting twins.

INDIA PLAN IS APPROVED

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 13.—The House of Commons yesterday evening adopted a motion approving the government's plans for a new constitution for India, involving self-government with safeguards. The motion for approval carried by an overwhelming majority, 410 to 127.

The motion approved the report of the joint select committee which investigated the Indian situation.

The Commons first rejected a labor amendment by a vote of 491 to 49. The amendment urged the India bill should be based on the report of the Labor members of the joint select committee, in order to provide for eventual dominion status for India.

The vote of approval ended a three-day debate and advanced one stage further the government's plans to provide for a greater measure of responsible government in India. The next stage will be the drafting of a bill based on the joint committee's report.

THE COST OF THE TARIFF

ACCORDING TO PROFESSOR NORMAN Rogers, who prepared the case for Nova Scotia for presentation to the Royal Commission established to make an economic study of conditions in the provinces and the causes behind those conditions, taking the figures for 1931, the tariff in that year enhanced the price of goods over world prices by $425,000,000, the proportion of the enhancement borne by each province being as follows:

	Enhancement of prices due to tariff	Per capita tariff costs
Prince Edward Island	$ 2,042,140	$23.20
Nova Scotia	15,784,124	30.78
New Brunswick	12,891,077	31.58
Quebec	101,171,562	35.20
Ontario	168,732,723	49.17
Manitoba	29,185,740	41.69
Saskatchewan	29,228,285	31.71
Alberta	27,909,396	38.15
British Columbia	37,737,247	54.36

Here is the conclusion at which Mr. Rogers arrived after going into elaborate calculations by which he assesses the advantage and the loss to each province:

Owing to the concentration of protected manufactures in Ontario and Quebec these two provinces profit most by the increase in money incomes and are the only provinces where the increase in money incomes is greater than the added charges imposed on all incomes by the effect of the tariff in enhancing the prices of protected goods. In the remaining seven provinces money incomes are increased by the tariff in so far as these provinces possess protected industries. But in these provinces the increase in money incomes due to the tariff is more than offset by the charges on all incomes due to the enhancement of the internal prices of protected goods.

In other words, the Canadian tariff has in fact imposed a heavy net charge on the annual incomes of seven of the nine provinces of the Dominion. This net charge on the incomes of these seven provinces goes to swell the money incomes of Ontario and Quebec.

Set forth in statistics, the showing as between the various provinces is as indicated by this table:

	Total tariff subsidy	Subsidy per capita
Prince Edward Island	$ 467,992	$ 5.32
Nova Scotia	9,487,493	18.50
New Brunswick	8,126,059	19.91
Quebec	132,867,447	46.23
Ontario	220,722,484	64.32
Manitoba	19,910,873	28.44
Saskatchewan	3,275,950	3.55
Alberta	8,211,148	11.22
British Columbia	22,378,571	32.03

We quote from The Winnipeg Free Press, which says, "the protective tariff system," as pointed out by the royal commissioners, was aimed at the creation within Canada of a group of industries producing commodities that had previously been imported.

Then consider an article written by Mr. Grant Dexter, a well-known Ottawa political commentator, who tells us that in stopping the importation into Canada of manufactured goods, the Bennett government tariff increases were successful. For example, imports for the year ending September 30, 1930, were $1,102,828,180. Imports for the years ending September 30, 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934 were as follows:

1932	481,922,852
1933	384,689,724
1934	497,398,663

In 1933, the actual reduction from 1930 in imports was $717,938,456. In comparison with 1934, the reduction was $605,429,517. The chief purpose, therefore, was achieved. What was the effect upon unemployment and, more particularly, upon employment in the manufacturing industry?

There were 117,000 unemployed in September, 1930. The employment index, based on 1926 being equal to 100, stood at 116.6 in that month. The index number during the following six months moved as follows: 116.2, 112.9, 108.5, 101.7, 100.7. By September, 1931, it stood at 107.1, and it fell to 103.9 in October, 1931. One year later, October, 1932, it stood at 86.7; in October, 1933, at 90.4, and in October, 1934, at 100.

When the tariff was increased in September, 1930, there were 934,902 persons gainfully employed, according to statistics published by the Bureau of Statistics. In October, 1934, this number had declined by 149,584 persons. In a word, there were 149,584 fewer at work last October than there were four years before when the tariff solution was applied.

Returning to the figure of 117,000 unemployed in September, 1930, the relief statistics published by the federal department of labor pick up the story as at May, 1932, when 596,949 persons were in receipt of government relief. This total became greater as the year wore on and reached 1,118,236 in November, 1932. During 1933 the number in receipt of relief fell below one million in only two months—August and September. And the figures for these months were 972,166 and 964,304 respectively. January, 1934, opened with 1,283,966 on relief and a new high was recorded in March with a total of 1,341,665. Mr. Dexter concludes his argument this way:

"In the last few months, the labor department has divided the total of those receiving relief into various classes. Those in the drought areas and heads of families are listed separately. Last September, according to the new figures, there were 860,792 persons in receipt of direct relief—all of them outside drought or rural areas. This total includes 196,885 heads of families. In addition, there were 24,535 single men in relief camps and another 40,105 men were doing relief work for wages. This makes a grand total of 926,432 individuals. In October there was a slight improvement; the total fell to 912,674.

"But the most remarkable result of the high tariff policy is to be found in the manufacturing industries. In 1930, when the tariff was raised, there were 644,439 persons employed by manufacturers and they received in wages $736,092,766. In 1931, the number declined to 557,426 and the wages earned to $624,545,561. In 1932, the last year of official record, employment totaled 495,398 and the wages earned were $505,883,323.

"The official statistics for 1933 will not be available for some time but it is certain that they will reveal a further shrinkage both in the number of employed and in their earnings."

MUSSOLINI'S WAR ON T.B.

THERE WILL ALWAYS BE DIFFERences of opinion about the manner in which Premier Mussolini is governing Italy; but it will have to be admitted that his war against the ravages of tuberculosis will be marked up in his favor.

According to Dr. W. H. Hatfield, of Vancouver, speaking to the Rotary Club of that city the other day, following a trip to Italy and other continental European countries, Premier Mussolini has decided that good health is the basis of the greatness of a nation—a sound argument.

Dr. Hatfield emphasized the very large amount of money Italy is exepnding in health centres throughout the nation, sanitaria and other institutions for the prevention, care and after-care of T.B. As a result of these activities, he said, the death rate, which in 1927 was 54,000 from tuberculosis, fell in 1933 to 25,000, and another big decrease is expected this year.

Italy, in recent years, Dr. Hatfield told the Vancouver Rotary Club, has expended hundreds of millions of dollars in health work, and these sums have been augmented by public philanthropy, the public being invited annually to contribute its share to the fight against T.B. The amounts the public has been subscribing have increased annually for several years past.

The Times hopes the citizens of Victoria will patronize the Kiwanis Club's annual T.B. Christmas seal campaign. It is all part of the fight against T.B.

HE WILL MISS MUCH

IF WE CAN BELIEVE ALL WE ARE TOLD, we seem to have a new infant prodigy on this continent—that seven-year-old New York lad who has been found by psychologists to be a boy in a million because of his exceptional brain development.

This child has an intelligence quotient of 196—a bare nine points below the mark set by the great Einstein himself. He can discuss astronomy intelligently. His father hesitates to talk politics with him because the youngster usually gets so far ahead of him, and he uses "four-bit" words in the most casual conversation.

Nature apparently has performed another of her freakish stunts here; and while it is fascinating to speculate on the things that such a precocious child might accomplish, if he could be shown how to make the best use of his powers, one's chief emotion on reading the story is a feeling of pity for the youngster.

For no matter what the possession of such an abnormally developed brain may augur for the future, the one immediate probability is that this prodigy, like most others of his kind, will have a fairly thin kind of childhood.

One of the nicest things about being a child is the fact that you do not know very much and can not understand very much. You move in an incomprehensible world, in which the strangest things happen for no reason that you can discover; but it is a world of wonder, even if it occasionally is a bit terrifying, and since you have no particular mental responsibility you can devote yourself to the joy of simply being alive in a way that is never afterward quite possible.

Childhood, in other words, is an enchanted sort of time. There are a great many things to learn and a great many things to understand; and the contemplation of them brings the dreaming of dreams and the seeing of visions, so that the world takes on a light that it will never hold again.

Now a youngster who has almost an Einsteinian intellect at the age of seven is going to miss all of that. Ahead of his time, he is going to be bumped up against the perplexities and riddles of adult life, which range all the way from worry over the political situation to a solemn contemplation of those profound mysteries which can never be solved this side of the grave.

When life does that to a child, it cheats him. This lad may go on to do great things when he is grown; meanwhile, he is apt to be robbed of his normal childhood.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RECKLESS DRIVING (BALTIMORE)
The Baltimore Sun

The statement of Judge Robert F. Stanton that, in dealing with cases of motor vehicle drivers convicted of manslaughter in accidents, he will not yield to pressure for probation, should serve as further warning to reckless drivers of the possible consequences of their indifference to human life. When the heavy week-end toll of casualties in this city and vicinity is noted, Judge Stanton's attitude needs neither explanation nor apology. It is not possible to persuade the public that the heavy toll of death on the highways is not due in large part to reckless driving. And there is much reason to believe that if fatal accidents could be closely followed up—as they are likely to be some time in the future—more motorists would find thmselves brought up on charges of manslaughter which our courts and juries are treating with increasing severity.

The most despicable of all motorists is the hit-and-run driver. He leaves the victim of his accident lying in the highway, not knowing whether the person is alive or dead, not knowing whether life could be saved by prompt attention. No effort should be spared in hunting down such miscreants.

"PURE AND UNDEFILED"
The Ottawa Citizen

We are all for expunging "lousy" from common speech. It is not a nice word—but it is very expressive, which explains why it is now the vogue. It is the successor of words like "awful," "terrible," "rotten" and "putrid." But it is the word and not the thing that affronts. It is ridiculous, that is to say, to run to the dictionary to find out what "lousy," used as slang, means, when everybody knows that it means precisely what the other words which went before it meant. It will soon fall from favor, to be succeeded by another term equally offensive—and equally expressive.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

Some heresy that you won't like—concerning our Island culture—in the tradition of which the Five Year Plan is being developed — and which includes some phenomena not generally understood.

By H. B. W.

OUR CULTURE

IT IS REASSURING to learn through the press that celebrations to be staged here next summer in the first year of the new Five Year Plan are to be thoroughly in the tradition, as the official announcement states, of our special and distinct Island culture. With proper modesty I think I can claim to have invented that choice phrase, "our Island culture," but I did not copyright it. For the purposes of the Five Year Plan I freely permit its use, though, having originated and used it widely, I have never yet been able to discover its meaning. Indeed, I had almost begun to doubt that it had any until I saw the official announcement that the Five Year Plan would be in its tradition. The announcement shows at least that I was right, even if I didn't know what I was talking about.

There is, then, an Island culture, and the Five Year Plan will bring it to life, give to that airy nothing a home and habitation. I shall await this birth of my own brain child with considerable interest. Already the advance announcement of the carnivals, assemblies and excitements which will be produced in the tradition of our Island culture must have filled everybody with a lively anticipation.

I had not suspected, however, when I discovered the phenomenon of our Island culture single-handed that its tradition included, as specified in the official programme, a contract bridge Olympiad, a mop fair, a roasted ox in the streets, a Klondike gold rush during which a patriotic Islander will be expected to disguise himself as a Dawson miner of '98, a greasy pig contest, and that interesting phenomenon, more imaginative even than our sea serpent, a spitting dragon which would perambulate through the streets apparently in a technical breach of the health by-laws.

VARIED TASTE

WHILE THIS sudden burgeoning of our Island culture will be spectacular and filled with what is officially called our quaint Old Worldiness, it will require considerable effort on the part of the average citizen. I mean, if there is going to be a proper celebration about it, every other week, as foreshadowed, a Victorian, to keep in the tradition of our Island culture, will need not only a wide catholic taste in amusement but an extremely varied wardrobe. What, for example, does one wear in a Klondike gold rush which apparently will be complete in every detail except the gold? What are the working clothes for a bridge Olympiad? What does good taste prescribe as the fashionable 1935 costume for the charming ceremony of chasing a greasy pig through our unrivalled Island scenery. And what does the well-dressed and Island-cultured woman wear when attending an old English mop fair and roasting an ox on the main streets in the Island tradition? Evidently the strain on the average citizen's energies will be almost as great as that on the imagination of the person who first invented these interesting details of our distinct culture.

MISTAKEN NOTION

I MUST SAY I had long labored under a sort of hazy notion that that undoubted and unique charm of our Island lay in other directions which might better be used to attract tourists. I had supposed that people came to the Island to see our scenery (which is rapidly being (desolated), our forests (which are being cut down and left in ruin), and our fish (which are being generally depleted). I had thought that thousands of people came here for the specific purpose of escaping carnivals, assemblies and excitements and to breathe air free of the odor of celebrations, contract bridge, roasted oxen and greasy pigs.

I had thought vaguely that our Island character, if such there be, was rather of the reticent Anglo-Saxon sort which shrank from those public displays of emotion that are required to make carnival in the streets, especially on our cold summer evenings when the wind blows off the Olympics. For that sort of thing you need a warm Latin temperament, bred under hot skies, as well as a warm climate, rather than the rugged but somewhat grim strength of our Island nature, which grows in the gloom of primeval forests and in the mountain shadows. For Klondike gold rushes and bridge Olympiads and roasted oxen and greasy pigs you need the spirit of the middle western Main Street rather than the old worldliness and the distinct culture of our Island.

INTO THE WOODS

I DOUBT, INDEED, that the Island nature could endure four or five months of almost continuous whoopee, and if it attracts thousands of tourists many Islanders will abandon this centre of carnival to them altogether and retire into the few remaining up-island forests to meditate and mourn. Before the onrush of mop fairs, two-gun Klondikers, roasted oxen, spitting dragons and greasy pigs our Island culture will probably wither away altogether. If we have anything of a culture and a tradition and a way of life here it is based largely on the absence of just such things as this, and if there is anything that brings visitors here it is the chance of escaping these most disagreeable features of a civilization gone mad.

When they get down to planning the details of the Five Year Plan the gentlemen in charge, who deserve the greatest credit and the community's support in their efforts, might rather consider the preservation, improvement and development of those features of our Island life which really amount to something, which really make us distinct.

The first thing we need, obviously, is cheaper automobile ferry service so that thousands of tourists who stop at the edge of the mainland now may come here, regarding us as being on the provincial highway system rather than as a separate and distant country. Equally we need better roads, though in this respect we are far more fortunate than the mainland which, by the way, will offer increasing competition as the government hard surfaces the highways out of Vancouver and lures the visitors eastward and away from us.

Thirdly, if we don't begin to preserve some timber, like the Cameron Lake forest, along our highways, I cannot see why tourists should bother to drive over them. A few more years at the present rate and we shall offer the visitor, over the greatest part of his journey, the pleasant prospect of a rolling and stormy sea of stumps and churned-up subsoil

FOR MADMEN

FOR A LONG TIME this Island used to be regarded as a fly fishing centre. Probably it was years ago, but it isn't any more. Except for a few lakes, which tourists can't reach and which will soon be fished out, there is no fresh water fishing on the Island worthy of the name, compared to that available in the interior, though happily there is fine salmon fishing more valuable as a tourist attraction than a thousand Klondike Weeks. We have even persuaded ourselves by our own propaganda that this is a fly fishing resort, but most Islanders don't fish so they don't know. If we would concentrate on restocking the Island lakes so that they returned to their old pre-war state that would bring more tourists than any other single attraction.

Near Kamloops they have a little patch of water four miles long called Paul Lake. Every year several thousand people come there from all over America, from England and Australia, just to visit. Because it is systematically cared for, Paul Lake always provides fine fishing. We have no accessible Island water, though we have far larger and better lakes to compare with it. And always remember that your fisherman is a madman—mad with a divine madness like me. He will go where there are fish regardless of distance and expense. That is why he is your best tourist. He asks no carnivals, no entertainment, no civic welcomes, no greasy pigs and spitting dragons. He asks only to be left alone with his fish and his thoughts.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES DECEMBER 13, 1909

(From The Times Files)

Masons from many points in the province, from Washington and Oregon, and from Saskatchewan and Alberta, will assemble here to do honor to the memorable occasion when free masonry was first introduced into this section of the northwest fifty years ago.

* * *

A wireless message to The Times this morning reports that the tug Tyee picked up the barqentine Benecia at 10.30 this morning, off Port Townsend. The deck load of the Benecia had gone, and there was nine feet of water in the hold.

* * *

The many friends of E. D. Allen, the victim of the shooting accident at the Summit, on the E. and N. Railway, will be glad to learn that he will not completely lose his sight, as was feared. He will likely have the sight of one eye.

* * *

McIntyre of the J.B.A.A., Schaffer of North Ward and W. Hills of Victoria West are the three local boxers who go to Vancouver to-night to take part in the intercity boxing tournament, to be held to-morrow night at Vancouver.

* * *

The printers of Victoria enjoyed a visit from the able and genial president of the International Typographical Union, J. M. Lynch, yesterday.

THANKS

To the Editor:—May I be granted space in your valuable paper to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all those who assisted the blind people of Victoria in connection with their social which was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall Government Street, on Saturday afternoon, December 8, 1934.

I particularly wish to thank the Northwestern Creamery for one gallon of ice-cream donated; David Spencer Limited for a donation of candies, the Knights of Columbus for their kindness in donating the hall for their use that afternoon, and also the man in charge of the hall who was very kind and willing to do any thing and everything to help along with the social.

F. LANDSBERG.

A PROTEST

To the Editor:—I desire as a contributor to the S.P.C.A. to enter my protest against the plan to provide summer entertainment for tourists here by reviving on our down-town streets the Old Country sport of chasing the greasy pig.

It would not only be cruel and inhuman to the pigs to have them made living slippery footballs fleeing up and down the hard pavement of Yates Street, terrorized by crowds of yelling youths, but it would especially be degrading to the visitors and our citizens.

I am sure that in voicing this protest I have the support of Miss Dora Kitto, the secretary, and other members of the S.P.C.A. and that the women of the city generally will join me in opposing any such barbaric displays.

M. M.

PATRONIZE HOME PIGS

To the Editor: — As one familiar with hogs both in Ontario and the Old Country, I would advise the mayor and the new tourist committee not to hold the proposed greased pig

DUNCAN GIRL PRETTY BRIDE

Miss Ethel Kate Macklin Married to Eli French Mosdell Yesterday

St. Mary's Church, Cobble Hill, was beautifully decorated with flowers and greenery for the marriage at 7.30 o'clock yesterday evening of Ethel Kate, third daughter of Mrs. E. J. Macklin, of Duncan, and of the late Mr. Herbert Macklin, to Mr. Eli French Mosdell, second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mosdell, of New Westminster.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. W. F. Crockford, the bride was a charming picture in her wedding gown of white silk chiffon, made on long form-fitting lines, the skirt falling in graceful flares, and the long bell-shaped sleeves trimmed with insets of French lace. Her long filmy veil, which formed a train, was of Brussels net, arranged in a "Princess Marina" coronet and held to her head with a bandeau of tiny orange blossoms, with clusters at each side. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, butterfly roses and white bouvardia.

THE ATTENDANTS

The attractive bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Miss Helen Macklin, who wore a robe de style of emerald green gros de Londres, the sleeves shirred to form a puff, the same effect being carried out in the front of the yoke. The skirt was long and very full. Her hat was of the same material, trimmed with velvet ribbon. Her sheaf bouquet was of beautiful bronze Godfrey chrysanthemums.

Little Margaret Carrick, of Vancouver, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl, dressed in a pink silk net Colonial frock and carrying a Colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. Arthur E. Hutchinson, of Duncan, was best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Jack Rathbone, of Shawnigan Lake, sang "O Promise Me."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Queen's Road, Duncan, Mrs. Macklin receiving the many guests in a smart gown of black chiffon velvet, made on close-fitting lines, with a yoke made of cut steel beads and she wore a panne velvet turban trimmed with silver, and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds and pink carnations. Mrs. Mosdell, the bridegroom's mother, wore a becoming gown of black moss crepe and lace and hat to match, and a corsage bouquet of roses.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated and on the supper table a three-tier wedding cake, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wragg, held the place of honor.

The bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip, the bride traveling in a wine-colored bunny wool dress with velvet trimmings and hat to match, and brown muskrat coat and matching accessories. They will make their home at Port Hammond, B.C.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cornish, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mosdell, Miss Violet Mosdell and Mrs. Fred Farmer, all of Vancouver; Miss Myra Cicero, Miss Margaret Horne, Mis Margaret Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Crockford and family, and Mrs. M. H. Rathom, all of Victoria.

Form Beaux-Arts At Qualicum

Qualicum Beach, Dec. 13.—An interesting and constructive movement was initiated here on Monday, when a number of young people met to organize the Qualicum Beach Beaux-Arts Club. Miss Kathleen Clapham, acting as convenor, opened the meeting briefly, and called on Capt. H. V. S. Page to explain its purpose.

Capt. Page said that the idea had originated in a letter received by him from a friend in Capetown, giving details of the South African Youth Movement which is sweeping that country. In discussing this with others, the suggestion had been made that a club of this nature would fill a long-felt want, being run entirely by and for young people, and covering various forms of social and artistic activity. A unanimous vote followed in favor of forming the club, with a maximum age limit of thirty-three years. Older people whose help is desired in any field may be admitted as associate members by invitation.

Owing to the nearness of the Christmas season, it was felt that little could be done till after the New Year. A second meeting will be called early in January, and meanwhile, sub-committees as under were appointed in the various fields to draw up suggestions for submission to this meeting: Dramatic, Kathleen Clapham, R. Bennett and H. V. S. Page; music, G. Kinkade; arts and crafts, Phyllis Norris and Oscar Frederickson; constitution, H. V. S. Page.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Harris, 345 Gorge Road West, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Irene Ethelwyn, to Frank Jeff, son of Mrs. A. Grant, and the late Mr. Grant of Vancouver; the wedding to take place in Centennial United Church on January 3 at 8 p.m.

* * *

Mrs. H. T. Scott, the former Claire Allan, was "at home" yesterday afternoon for the first time since her marriage at her home, 943 Collinson Street. About thirty friends called during the afternoon and the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. T. W. Allan, her sister, Mrs. H. W. Davey, and Miss Margaret Thompson, who was bridesmaid at her wedding. The bride's little cousin, Kenneth Bishop, who had been her train-bearer, opened the door to the visitors. The rooms were prettily arranged with chrysanthemums in various hues, and the tea table, spread with a point de Venise cloth, was centred by a silver bowl of bronze chrysanthemums.

* * *

Miss Marie Fields, whose marriage to Mr. Donald Fraser will take place this month, was the guest of honor at a shower given yesterday evening by Miss Hilda Allen, Linden Avenue. A buffet supper was served and games enjoyed. The invited guests were Mrs. J. E. Fields, Mrs. C. A. Fields, Mrs. W. F. Fraser, Mrs. Rayfuse, Mrs. C. M. La Pointe, Mrs. Meighen, Mrs. H. Wakeman, Misses Florence Abbot, Molly Johnson, Dolly Hobbis, Florence Arvason, Daisy Blackstock, Annie Musgrave, Grace Jenner, Ethel Parker, Ruth Carey, Isabelle Pike, Mariam Dobson, Helen Wells, Ruth Fields, Vera La Pointe, Edith Fields and Gwen Fraser.

Erskine W.M.S. Marks Birthday

Erskine and Gorge Church held its annual meeting and the tenth anniversary birthday meeting of Women's Missionary Society, Rev. and Mrs. T. McAllister kindly offered their home for this occasion.

The first part of the meeting was presided over by the secretary in the absence through sickness of the president, Mrs. W. Sanders. The annual reports were received. Mrs. Kennedy of St. Andrew's, Victoria West, very ably taking the chair at this point for the election of officers, finishing with a dedicatory paryer. Mrs. Acheson, treasurer, received the special birthday offering. Mrs. McAllister, as a past president of a W.M.S. auxiliary, offered prayer.

Mrs. Kennedy addressed the gathering in "Looking Backward Over the Years," and took the gathering on a journey over the provinces from east to west. Silent prayers were offered of thanks for the women of the past, pioneer women, the mothers of the W.M.S. as it stands to-day, and for strength to carry on into the future.

A short talk followed by Mrs. Hyde of St. Paul's, who stressed the need of the future as prayer and spoke with joy of the wonderful spirit of passing on the Gospel to others, which the Chinese of Victoria have.

Mrs. Acheson closed in prayer, Mrs. McAllister invited the ladies to partake of refreshments, including a birthday cake with the appropriate inscription, W.M.S. seventieth anniversary made and donated by Mrs. Acheson. The seven candles, one for each decade, were lighted and the cake cut by Mrs. Kennedy, with a few remarks and wishes, little Mabel McAllister, junior life member, blew out the candles, one candle burning a little longer than the others, a symbol to pass on the light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

After this social time our annual meeting closed a meeting full of fellowship and hope for 1935.

Cleaning Upholstery

Upholstered furniture should be cleaned and aired frequently. Be sure to get a reliable cleaning fluid and then learn to put it on correctly. Using a large piece of cloth, rub the fabric with the fluid. Apply it sparingly and work rapidly to prevent rings and spots. Then, when one small area has been moistened, take a clean cloth and rub it dry.

Between you and me...

"YOU CAN PROVE TO YOURSELF HOW LONG OLD DUTCH WILL LAST BY PUTTING THE DATE ON THE NEXT PACKAGE YOU BUY."

"THAT'S AN IDEA, AND I'LL DO IT. I'VE NOTICED ALREADY HOW MANY MORE THINGS YOU CAN CLEAN WITH OLD DUTCH."

Old Dutch costs less to use because it goes further. It goes further because it's the only cleanser made with "seismotite" (pronounced sis'-mo-fite), a fine, flaky, scratchless cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin. Old Dutch cleans more things—it cleans quicker and doesn't scratch. There's nothing else like it.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

No one is more eager than I to help young mothers—but they must first be helpful to me. It is essential to have an accurate picture of the babies in order to have any idea of what may be the cause of this one's failure to gain, that one's irritable disposition or another's faulty habits.

Mrs. A. W. W. has given no hint of her baby's routine, weight or feeding, yet she asks, "What would cause an eight-months-old baby to wake up frequently at night? She has slept through until a month ago. She sleeps three hours in daytime. She has two upper teeth. Could she be teething?

THEY TEETH FROM BIRTH

Your baby is teething from birth to three years but this wouldn't keep her from sleeping for a month.

If she is nursing baby, she is probably advertising her need to be weaned. That is one of the foremost reasons why babies who have slept well suddenly develop poor night habits.

There are many reasons why your baby might not sleep well at night. It is possible that this may indicate undernourishment. It may also indicate excessive feeding.

HOT, COLD—UNDERFED, OVERFED

She may be too hot—or too cold. She may be sleeping too long in daytime and so enjoying her play time when the household wants to slumber. She may be breathing with difficulty because of a suffocating overgrowth of adenoidal tissue in the nose. She may have too many comforts and blankets weighing her down, or lack refreshing air in the bedroom. Her bed may be uncomfortable. All of these reasons are different—but baby's actions are the same—she can not sleep.

POSSIBLE CAUSES

One must get acquainted with baby in order to determine which one or more of these causes may be operating.

How much did she weigh at birth and how much does she weigh now? That gives a clue to nutrition.

What is she being fed, when, and how much? That answers the question about insufficient or excessive feedings. What are her sleeping and nap time habits? Does she sleep alone, or—we hope not—with her parents?

Has she a comfortable bed?

DETAILED INFORMATION

It is only after weighing this detailed information that it is possible to determine what may be keeping baby's eyes open when they should be tightly closed.

I shall be happy to send you leaflets on, "Reasons for Sleeplessness," and "Feeding from Nine to Twelve months," if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

TRAGIC DEATH IN OLD HOME

Mrs. Leo Fall, Composer's Widow, Dies in Poverty in Vienna

Associated Press

Vienna, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Bertha Fall, widow of the famous composer, Leo Fall, and once immensely wealthy, committed suicide to-day in abject poverty.

Her husband, who died September 16, 1925, at the age of fifty-two, was known as "the King of Operetta." His "The Dollar Princess" was one of the world's most famous operettas from the time of its opening in 1909 in London through its many subsequent performances. Hazel Dawn scored one of her earliest successes in its cast.

Once the Falls had a villa here together but, until to-day, it had been a long time since the poverty-stricken widow had set foot in the great halls.

Somehow she managed to break into the home which had once been hers and where society had once gathered in the light of its great candelabra, where Mrs. Fall had presided as a dollar princess in real life.

She had written a note: "Finally, I am home again. Please forgive me."

HAIR WAVING IS FORBIDDEN

Nanking Police Announces Regulations for Women's Dress

Canadian Press

Shanghai, Dec. 13.—Following the precedent established by the authorities of Canton, Peiping and other Chinese cities regarding "fancy dress," the metropolitan board and the bureau of social affairs of Nanking have published a set of regulations outlining what may and what may not be worn by the women of the national capital:

These regulations provide that women's long gowns shall not touch the instep, nor shall the collars be so high as to touch the chin. Women must dress their hair in such a way so that it will not fall below the edge of the collar.

If shorts are worn the coat must be long enough to cover the hips. The regulations lay special emphasis on the clause prohibiting women from appearing in public dressed only in shirts and slippers.

While these regulations are applicable to women of Nanking in general, women employees of government offices, women members of the faculties and students in the girls' schools must obey two other regulations. These regulations absolutely forbid the tinting of finger nails and hair waving.

The police of the capital have been notified that first offenders are to be given a warning only, but if this warning is ignored the offender is to be summarily arrested and prosecuted.

Blonde Goddess

– A New Serial –

By HERBERT JENSEN

Frank turned back to the business of driving. A fine girl; one in a million. She was reacting magnificently to the situation. A quick throb of exultation surged in his breast as he thought of how she had clung that instant to him when he had taken her from the car.

He felt his face flush with a sensation of delight strange to him when he remembered that she had pressed her cheek against his coat. There was no doubt that she had done so; to Frank there was no question as to why she had done so. Allowing for a natural impulse of gratitude and of nervous reaction, still she could have thanked him otherwise.

That she had not thanked him but had made that small gesture, led him to one conclusion; the gesture had been one of affection. He loved Janice Kent—of that he was sure; that she returned his regard seemed incredible, but he was sure that she did.

As a swain Frank realized that he had much to learn. Lurking in the background of his mind was a small goblin of thought that there might be something elementally wrong with his reasoning—if the emotions he felt could be called reason—since subconsciously he appreciated that all lovers believe that because of the very intensity of their emotion it must be returned in kind.

The wish is father to the thought. But Janice had pressed her cheek against his coat.

He swung the nose of the car into the paved highway and headed for the stone columns that flanked the grounds of Agua Caliente. The tires crackled over the graveled patio. He drew up before the hotel entrance.

"I'll arrange for a cottage for Janice," he said, 'and get a sawbones for you, Spin. I'll phone Myberg inside."

To an attendant he gave quick instructions and passed into the hotel.

The house doctor had come and gone. Spin was resting easily. There was a reek of ether in the air. The doctor had diagnosed a dislocated shoulder, instructing Frank to hold his friend—so, while he pressed in the joint.

Janice insisted that she stay in the room and help. The doctor had demurred, Frank expostulated, and Spin himself had told her in that faintly bitter way of his that actresses made lousy nurses and to get the hell out of there.

Janice had given him a verbal wallop in return. She'd said with a placid detachment, "I'll hold the mask, doctor, while you pour the chloroform. The man's just afraid I'll find out about his past when he talks going under. But he's not nearly so bad as he thinks he is. He'll probably sing psalms. I'll stay."

Vaguely Frank remembered that Janice had been splendid while they had worked over the unconscious Spin. Deft, capable, yet unobtrusive, she had been invaluable. The metamorphosis from skilled actress to the subordinate but efficient part of doctor's assistant was amazing because it was absolute.

Frank and Janice walked from the hotel room where lay Spin, to the detached cottage that was to be the girl's for the night.

Light from the Casino slashed into the mild sky. Music from the hidden patio followed them as they walked; bursts of distant laughter and of muffled conversation were syncopated by the sound of ivory balls rattling about the spinning wheels in the gaming rooms. The moon was a newly minted silver coin flung high above them.

The world, to Frank, was a very good place to be alive in. Janice was safe—it was enough; explanations could come another time. He was in love with her, he realized with sudden conviction Spin Winslow's cynicisms about Janice Kent's ambitions, the vague memory of the nonmarriage clause of her contract with Consolidated, her wealth, her beauty, her aura of unattainability had shrunk this night but she remained, walking by his side, clinging a bit tiredly to his arm, the weary, sweet girl with whom he was in love.

At the doorway of her cottage, she turned her face, a bit white in the moonlight, to Frank. Her voice held the huskiness of fatigue when she said:

"Good night, Frank. You've been such a dear— Oh, I don't mean that. How absurdly trivial words are! I mean——"

Frank caught her in his arms. She did not resist but lay there an instant, looking at him. Her eyes were wide—the deep blue of them had darkened to black. They hinted, meltingly, of surrender.

Frank kissed her. Her lips against his were cool and detached—a curious aloofness that caused Frank, in a brief flash, to think of the figurines of the Virgin he'd seen in the remote niches of lost churches found in forgotten jungles.

Did he imagine it?—or did for a fleeting instant her lips tremble against his? Abruptly she was out of his arms and her hand on the doorknob. Frank half raised his arms.

"Please . . ." she said. "I'm very tired." Was it fright he saw in her eyes? —no—but it was an odd timidity. "I'm sorry." She seemed to say that to herself. "Frank, forget that, will you, please." Her breast rose and fell with quick, short breaths, but the alarm had gone from her eyes.

"I love you, Janice," said Frank. The words were husky in his throat.

Janice put up her arm in a gesture of half protest. Suddenly she laughed, a little trill that ran through half an octave. The sound of it seemed to throw a cloak of restraint between them. Frank's arms dropped to his side. The girl's slender figure took on a new poise. She said hurriedly:

"We musn't be silly. You must go now. You—Oh, how mournful you look!" Her little laugh broke on a half note.

Swiftly she drifted against Frank. She shook his arms in a small gesture of good-humored protest. She stood on tip-toe. Lightly her lips brushed his—a fleeting feather of fragrance, then she was gone.

But she was not gone from Frank's mind. He stood, staring at the door and rapidly running back through the strange trail of events that had brought them to this spot.

There were so many chances that they might never have met. Suppose he one that he had not madly decided to follow her car that day in Hollywood. Or, suppose that he had not telephoned her house this very evening——

He half raised his hand to touch his lips, then turned and walked back to the hotel. He was in a glow of anticipation, bemused and yet clear upon one point. His regard for Janice.

Miss Janice Kent, despite her unquestionable beauty, her servants, her two fan-writers and that much photographed black-and-gold motor, was somewhat a creature of circumstance. Her public, had it been told of this fact, would have agreed that it was most pleasant circumstance indeed. However, Miss Janice might have, but didn't, inform it differently.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S COW BELL

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow was a field in which lived many cows. The cows did not live in the field all the while now, as they did in summer when there was no ice or snow. The cows only stayed in the field during the day in winter. Sometimes the farmer would bring his cows something to eat while they were in the field—cut-up pumpkins or cornstalks that had been kept moist and green in a sort of refrigerator, called a silo, and other things that cows like to eat.

At night the cows went in a warm stable, where they gave milk to the farmer's wife. She made the milk into butter or cheese or into puddings, custards or cakes.

Uncle Wiggily often hopped across the cow field in winter, looking for an adventure. It was a large field. Part of it was covered with trees and part with thick bushes in which, sometimes, the cows would hide so the farmer's boy couldn't find them to drive them back to the warm stable at night.

EASY TO FIND

In order that the cows might be more easily found when they went to hide amid the trees or bushes of the field, the farmer's boys had fastened bells around the cows' necks. The bells dangled from a strap, and whenever a cow walked the bell rang. Thus it was easy to find them.

One day when Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the cow field looking for an adventure he saw the herd of cows standing out in the middle of the pasture, where there were no trees or bushes. The cows were waiting for the farmer to bring them some sweet, juicy cornstalks from the silo. Their bells were jingling. Then Uncle Wiggily hopped on a little farther and he saw a cow all alone by herself in the bushes, far from the others.

"Why are you out here in the bushes all alone by yourself?" the rabbit gentleman asked, for he could speak and understand cow talk. "Why aren't you with the others? They are going to be fed, but if you aren't there you will get nothing to eat."

"I don't dare go with the other cows," said the lone one.

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because I have lost my bell," was the sad answer. "I came over here in the bushes to see if I could find a little sweet fern left from summer. I hunted all over for sweet fern, but I found none. And the bushes were so thick and tangled that I caught my bell in some stickery briars. The strap broke, the bell fell off and, though I looked for it, I couldn't find it. So now, having no bell, I am afraid to go with the other cows who have their bells on."

"That's too bad," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes," mooed the lone cow, "it is, for I am very hungry, but I dare not go eat with the others unless I have a bell on."

BELL MADE FROM CAN

"Oh, thank you, so much!" mooed the cow. But though Uncle Wiggily looked and looked and looked under many bushes, he couldn't find the lost bell. All he found was an old tin can, a stone and a piece of string.

"But I can make you a bell out of the can, the stone and the string," said Uncle Wiggily to the cow.

"Oh, I hardly think so," mooed the cow.

But Uncle Wiggily did. He punched a hole in the bottom of the can, which was open on the other end. Through the hole he put a piece of string with a stone tied to it like a bell clapper. With the rest of the string the rabbit tied the tin can around the cow's neck. And when she walked, lo and behold, the tin can with the stone clapper went: "Ding! Dong!" So the cow, who now had a bell, could join the others and eat cornstalks.

She thanked Mr. Longears very much. And if the wind will blow some big soap bubbles for the piano to play marbles with, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the happy bug.

Ross-on-Wye will be visited by the BBC's "Microphone-at-Large" during a broadcast to be heard over short wave stations GSD and GSB at 1.15 p.m., Victoria time, to-morrow.

The idea of the "Microphone-at-Large" series is to present a section of life to-day and yesterday in a particular part of England. Ross is commonly called the "Gate of the Wye." The market hall dates from the reign of Charles II and contains a curious sculpture of a heart and two letters, which was erected by John Kyrle, the Man of Ross, who expressed his loyalty to the House of Stuart. The town has interesting Dickens' associations, as it was there that the novelist first met his biographer, Forster.

OLD-TIMER DIES

HEADLINERS ON RADIO TO-NIGHT

6.00—Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Teller" will be presented in abbreviated form during Captain Henry's Show Boat programme, with Lanny Ross, Mary Lou, Conrad Thibault and Maria. The remainder of the one-hour broadcast will be given over to musical selections.—KPO, KOMO.

6.00—"Science in Industry" is the title of a university lecture to be delivered from Montreal by Dr. J. B. Phillips of McGill University.—CRCV.

BACH MASS TO BE BROADCAST

Philadelphia Orchestra and Westminster Choir Will Observe 250th Anniversary

In observance of the 250th anniversary of the birth of Johann Sebastian Bach, Leopold Stokowski has prepared Bach's great Mass in B minor for its first performance by the Philadelphia Orchestra, assisted by eminent guest soloists and the Westminster Choir, in a broadcast over the Columbia network, from 12.00 to 2.00 p.m., P.S.T., to-morrow.

Presentation of this remarkable product of Bach's genius is one of the outstanding events of the current season and affords music lovers from coast to coast the rare opportunity of hearing an unfamiliar work of Bach's which is one of the creative triumphs of musical art.

Assisting the Philadelphia Orchestra in the presentation of the B minor Mass will be the famous Westminster Choir of Princeton, N.J., directed by John Finley Williamson and founded by him in 1920. The chorus for the B minor Mass includes, in addition to the Westminster Choir, the entire student body and faculty of the Westminster Choir School consisting of 140 mixed voices. The list of guest soloists includes LoRean Hodapp, soprano; Rose Bampton, contralto; Dan Gridley, tenor; and Frans Hoffman, basso.

Due to the length of the B minor Mass, the opening chorus, the "Kyrie," will have to be omitted from the broadcast period. The remainder of the great work, however, will be heard in its entirety over the coast-to-coast Columbia chain. During a brief intermission Pitts Sanborn, noted music critic, will comment upon Bach and the history of his B minor Mass.

The network releasing this great broadcast will include KOL, KVI and KSL.

CARTOONISTS HOLDING SHOW

Chicago, Dec. 13.—A strange company trooped into the Art Institute here to-day.

Mickey Mouse, the Three Little Pigs, the Katzenjammer Kids, Jiggs and Maggie, Mutt and Jeff and others of their ilk took their places alongside austere and venerable canvasses that grace its walls. The exhibit is part of a salon of American humorists which will open to the general public to-morrow.

Cartoonists from the Revolutionary period until the present day are represented in the exhibition, which marks the first occasion the cartoon has been exhibited as an art form, except for one or two individual shows in the past.

CENTENNIAL

On Tuesday evening the young people of Centennial United Church entertained the young people of the Chinese United Church. The president, Jim McCague, was in the chair. The first part of the meeting took the form of a devotional period. It was requested that the editor read the latest edition of the paper, to illustrate to the visitors what it was like.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, who gave an inspiring address on the Christmas message. The meeting then adjourned to the Sunday school room, where a social time was enjoyed under the leadership of Ernest Hatch. After lunch the president of the visiting society, in a few well-chosen remarks, thanked their hosts for their hospitality.

BRILLIANT PAIR HONOR GUESTS

Tributes Paid at Farewell Dinner to Dr. Frank and Helen Hogg

Dr. Helen Sawyer Hogg and Dr. Frank S. Hogg, the brilliant young married pair of scientists, who for the last three years have been associated with the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, were yesterday evening, honored at a farewell dinner at the Y.W.C.A. dining room given by the president and executive of the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

The two scientists are leaving Victoria on Sunday for Toronto, where Dr. Frank will join the staff of the Department of Astronomy at the University of Toronto and carry on research work at the new Dunlap Observatory there.

President H. Boyd Brydon of the Victoria Centre, paid tribute to Dr. Frank Hogg for his work in connection with nebulae and the distribution of spectra in nebulae, and to Mrs. Hogg for her brilliant work on the variable stars of which she had discovered about 110 and determined the period of between forty and fifty. Mr. Brydon pointed out that Dr. Frank Hogg's book on comets was one of the most authoritative on the subject ever published. He also spoke of Dr. Helen Hogg's work as chart curator of the American Society of Variables.

Tributes to the work of the pair were also paid in the addresses of Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Observatory, Dr. J. A. Pearce, Dr. C. S. Beals and W. E. Harper. Descriptions of the new Dunlap Observatory in Toronto were given by Dr. Plaskett and Mr. Harper.

Robert Peters, representing the council of the Victoria Centre of the Astronomical Society, expressed the thanks of the members to the pair for the illuminating lectures they had given before the organization during their residence here.

Besides elaborting on the important contributions of the pair to astronomical science, all the speakers referred to the appreciation of Victoria people of the personality of the pair and the general regret that will be felt here at their departure.

Both Dr. Frank and Dr. Helen spoke in reply, expressing thanks for all the tributes and good wishes and the regret with which they were leaving so many real friends here.

Those present at the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Hogg, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Plaskett, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Beals, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harper, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. H. Boyd Brydon, Mr. and Mrs. R. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hobday, Miss Mira Gwynne, Miss Bruce, K. C. Drury, Miss M. Clay, James Duff, V. Greenway and H. E. Moore. There were special table decorations in a jade and rose color scheme.

PENSION PLAN WELL RECEIVED

General Foods' Voluntary Retirement Income Plan Well Taken Up

Ninety-seven per cent of General Foods' eligible employees in Canada and the United States applied to participate in the corporation's new co-operative retirement income plan within eight days after the announcement, R. K. McIntosh, vice-president and general manager, General Foods Ltd., Toronto, reports.

Enrollment in Canadian plants and sales districts totals 99 per cent of eligible employees.

Participation in the General Foods retirement plan is voluntary, it is pointed out, but the liberal provisions proved attractive to workers of all ages in each earnings classification. Payments by the company and the employee obtain for the participant a retirement income more than twice as large as the employee could secure by purchasing an individual annuity. For the three months following September 1, the effective date of the plan, General Foods has paid both its own and the employees' share of the investment.

The plan gives employees assurance of steady monthly incomes when they reach retirement eligibility, age sixty-five for men, sixty for women. The plan is supported by joint contributions of corporation and employees. General Foods bears more than half the total cost of the arrangement, which affects thousands of workers in the company's plants and sales territories in Canada and the United States.

Upon retirement a General Foods employee will receive a monthly income equivalent to 2 per cent of his average monthly earnings multiplied by the number of years of his participation. After thirty years' participation, for instance, an employee will retire for life on an income equivalent to sixty per cent of the average salary he received from General Foods.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS BALANCE

Victoria's school board will complete the year 1934 within its budget and will have effected the saving of $5,000 from its original estimates in accordance with promises made to the City Council at the beginning of the year. With $78,731.55 of total estimated receipts amounting to $92,700 already collected, the board was assured of a surplus equal to the amount of the required saving, T. B. Monk, chairman of the finance committee told the trustees at their meeting yesterday evening. Estimated expenditures for the year amount to $546,200, including the sum of $81,010 for sinking fund and interest. Expenditures up to the end of November were $421,054. December accounts must still be met, but with the remainder of the government grants due before the end of the year, the ledger would be balanced, it was stated.

If you haven't answered that letter from your local tuberculosis association, why not do so at once; or if your name is not on their list of donors, why not ask them to send you your share of Christmas Seals? The work of tuberculosis prevention which the Christmas Seals finance will continue to protect you throughout the coming year.

DEADLOCK IN MIAMI GOLF

Abe Espinosa and Mike Turnesa Tied for Lead at Fifty-four Hole Stage

Miami, Fla., Dec. 13.—Abe Espinosa, Chicago, and Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N.Y., romped home late yesterday with near-perfect cards to tie at 219 and lead the field at the fifty-four-hole mark in the $12,500 Miami Biltmore open golf tournament.

A long chip-shot on the eighteenth green that dropped into the cup, enabled Turnesa to chalk up a pair of 36's for a 72, one over par, and tie the stocky Espinosa, who posted 36-37—73.

Their scores shaded the 220 collected by Orville White, St. Louis. Olin Dutra, United States open champion from California, went out in 37 yesterday, two over par, but took a bad 41 coming back.

Jules Huot, half-pint pro of Quebec, carded a steady 75 to stay up fairly close with 229. Of the Canadians in the second group, which got back into action to-day, only Andy Kay, formerly of Toronto, appeared to have a chance for prize money. His thirty-six-hole total was 154.

OWNER OF HORSE TAKING RELIEF

Stratford, Ont., Dec. 13. — Relief Investigator Percy Mitchell has had some queer problems to solve, but never before did they involve a racehorse. During his inquiries he uncovered a relief recipient who owns a racehorse. The man is grooming the horse for next year's races, and, in the meantime, the relief committee is considering what is to be done with the unemployed racehorse owner.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

NOW LET ME WANDER

Now let me wander,
I have stayed too long
Tending the bright flame
In the house of song!

I would put dreaming
Out of mind for a time,
Leaving sweet measures
And leaving rhyme.

Regions scarce guessed at
Offer me new lore,
Now let me wander
Through this strange world's core.

Here are no fancies
On the breezes tossed;
Life's bitter battles
Are won here, or lost.

Beauty of woman,
Ancient right and wrong . . .
Then, when I weary,
Glad return of song.

A CHILD'S PART? BOYS AND GIRLS, you know Santa Claus is human, the same as you and I. Santa don't always know just what gift to give, so children (big and little) should tell mother or dad what their desires are, and they can pass this message on to Santa. Don't be disappointed if you do not get all you ask for, because Santa has to buy these gifts and sometimes is short of cash. The stores all do their part in making a big spread so Santa can readily see the different gifts offered and pick those most suitable. Must not tell you more this time or dad will think we have stopped making our coarse whole wheat bread, so call daily and see the nice things we do offer at little cost. More to-morrow. EMPIRE SHOWS NEGRO REVUE

"Darktown Scandals" Opens To-day With Large Cast

Harlem "royalty" will appear at the Empire Theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday and Sunday midnight, when "Darktown Scandals," an all-negro musical revue, will be presented on the stage in afternoon and evening performances.

Ida Cox, known to Harlemites as the "Queen of the Blues," and Ned Stanfield, who occupies the throne with Ida, as "King of the Ivories," are featured artists.

Other features include the Dixiana Troubadors, a male sextette; Sam Robinson, the "funny man;" Francis Hereford, sepia songbird; Boogie and Woogie, dancers supreme; "Cyclone" Huggins, flash and rhythm, and the Darktown Scandals Victor Recording Orchestra, which furnishes the music.

"Cinderella" To Be Given Here

It promises to be a delightful production with some of Victoria's best known talent. Dorothy Wilson is arranging the dances for the sixty children taking part. Mivien Combe is directing, and is also in charge of the costuming which is most lavish throughout the whole play from the tinest Fairy to the ugliest of the Ugly Sisters.

Miss Ora Pearson has composed the music of some of the dances. There will be the real old pantomine comedy songs sung by Alf Adams and Alan King, while Doreen Wilson and Isabel Benson will sing some of the more popular. Special numbers will be danced by Maureen Grute, Geraldine Paterson, Phyllis Addison, Rosemary Farrow and Ian Gibson.

Tickets will be on sale at Fletcher Bros., Dec. 27 and 28. Mail orders are being received now.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The plot of "The Gay Divorcee," now showing at the Capitol, starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, is based on the theory that "love troubles are never funny except to bystanders."

Miss Rogers, after failing in love with Astaire, hires a professional flirt to help her stage a fake "affair d'amour" by which she hopes to make her current boy friend jealous and thus break off with him so that she can accept the advances of Astaire. But the unfortunate Astaire [illegible] by Miss Rogers for the professional flirt.

Juvenile Orange—Juvenile Orange Association Pride of Victoria held their regular meeting recently, Elaine Humphries, worthy vice-chairman, presiding. Splendid reports were handed in from the various committees. The next meeting on December 22 will be the installation of officers and all members are requested to be present. At the silver tea held after the meeting, dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge and a splendid programme, with Dorothy McVie as chairman, by the pupils of Miss Coles was greatly appreciated by all present. The programme included songs by Ilace Roskelly, piano solos by Dorothy McVie; Miss Isobel Cane told the story of "The Birds' Christmas Carol"; songs by Barbara McVie, recitation by Iris Pembridge, song by Miss Coles, recitation by Ilace Roskelly, and recitation by Eileen Chaster.

Sweaters Are in Vogue

Sweaters never have been more popular than they are right now. They are recommended not only for sports and country, but for street and more formal occasions. There are dinner sweaters of handsome metallic woolens and fine yarns that are soft as silk. Wear them with ankle-length skirts of satin or velvet.

One square-necked, short-sleeved evening sweater in simple pullover design is made of pale pink lace, woven with elastic. It is worn with an accordion-pleated skirt in a deeper shade of pink.

Dresses With Jackets

Woolen dresses with matching, fur-trimmed jackets are newer than two-piece suits. One particularly handsome model consists of a dark green, rough woolen dress with a bright red velvet belt and a hip-length swagger jacket, trimmed with dark brown seal.

T PLAYHOUSE

Where To Go To-night
As Advertised

Capitol—Ginger Rogers in "The Gay Divorcee."

Empire—On the Stage — "Darktown Scandals."

Playhouse—"Laughing Boy," starring Ramon Novarro.

Crystal Garden—Swimming.

"Housewife" at The Columbia

The term "simple, human story" sounds so humble and unobtrusive that the uninitiated might fail to realize that while the story might be simple—the production of it is far from simple.

"Housewife," the Warner Bros.' production which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day, is a case in point. If the name suggests a living room, dust rag and kitchen utensils, it might be well to remember even a simple story goes far afield when it is told on the screen.

In "Housewife," the hero, George Brent, and his wife, Ann Dvorak, at first live in a small suburban home. For this sitting, the technical department had to reproduce in detail the exterior and interior of such a house [illegible] phere.

Also being chosen as a second feature is Rex Bell in "Diamond Trail."

Three-day Bazaar Netted $1,669.12

Rev. Father Albury, chaplain of Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League, speaking before the December meeting in the Parish Hall yesterday evening, told of attending the consecration of Rt. Rev. Bishop MacDonald. While in Montreal he had also heard the national president, Mrs. Coffey, speaking on the charms of Victoria, and she had characterized the convention held here last June as the kindliest and most gracious, as well as the best attended convention she had yet known.

Father Albury also took occasion to express to Mrs. McManus, the president of Victoria Subdivision, the thanks of the Bishop and the Cathedral clergy to herself and all her committees and to everyone who had contributed to the success of the annual bazaar. The reports of the various stalls were read and the approximate returns of the bazaar were given as $1,669.12. General satisfaction was expressed at the success achieved and a special vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. J. Masarati, transportation convener.

Mrs. McManus spoke at some length upon the life and work of the late Mrs. R. A. Duncan, past diocesan president of the league, and past president of Esquimalt Subdivision, and warm sympathy was expressed to her bereaved husband and family. Members were asked to assemble this evening at the home of Mr. Duncan, Kerr Avenue, for prayers, and again to-morrow morning at 9.30 at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt.

Arrangements for hospital visiting and Christmas gifts to the hospital patients and friends in the Aged Ladies' Home, were made after hearnig the reports of visitors for the last month, Mrs. Danes for St. Joseph's, Mrs. Pemberton for the Jubilee. Regret was expressed at the illness of Mrs. Pemberton and Mrs. Napier. Visitors for the coming month will be Mrs. M. Donough for the Jubilee, and Mrs. Roarke for St. Joseph's.

A gift of $10 to the Women's Workroom, and an equal contribution of $10 to the Gyro Hamper Fund, passed unanimously. Members were reminded of the special collection to be taken next Sunday for St. Vincent de Paul Christmas fund, and tentative arrangements were made for a party to be held for this cause later in the season should it be necessary.

The reports of the secretary, Miss M. Clay, and treasurer, Mrs. G. Roberts, were heard with interest, and letters received included acknowledgment of donations to St. Louis College, by Father Gaudette; to St. Ann's Academy by Sister Superior, and a letter from Monsignor Jansen of the Relief Asociation for Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Blair Reid reported for the committee, Mrs. McManus, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Miss K. Scanlan and herself that two enormous boxes of warm clothing had been packed in response to the plea received lately from Saskatchewan. Those who contributed the garments, 450 in number, were thanked.

The next meeting of the Subdivision will be held on Wednesday evening, January 2, and will take the form of a card party and social for members and their husbands. Those in charge of the arrangements will be Mrs. Cummerford, Mrs. Shakespeare, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Hurst Mrs. Bently, Mrs. A. J. Smith.

Curate (interestingly): "And what are you going to give your little brother for Christmas?"

INDIAN STORY AT PLAYHOUSE

"Laughing Boy," With Ramon Novarro and Lupe Valez Opens To-day

The most colorful moments of a Navajo wedding rite are to be seen in "Laughing Boy," Indian drama starring Ramon Novarro and Lupe Velez. The picture, recently filmed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios with action on the authentic locale in the reservation near Cameron, Arizona, is being shown at the Playhouse Theatre.

A bride and groom are kept in separate groups while they listen to a Medicine Man sing a moaning chant during the day and another at night. While this chanting takes place the bride is being dressed in her finest velvet clothes and her hair carefully combed and braided.

At the climax of the ceremony, on the fourth day, a "wedding basket" is brought to the groom. With small sticks of "soapweed," a native weed that lathers like soap, he then joins his bride in a brisk hand and face scrubbing. A small basket of sacred cornmeal is placed before them, from which they eat, being careful to take the meal from opposite sides. The Medicine Man draws a sacred sign on the sand and they are declared man and wife.

JAN KIEPURA TO SING HERE

A rich musical treat is in store for all music lovers, and others who visit the Dominion Theatre Friday. Jan Kiepura, the famous Polish tenor, is paying a return visit, not in "Tell Me To-night," in which he delighted last year, but in a new "musical" equally rich and appealing. The story of the film is bright and amusing and the comedy is developed by Sonnie Hale with a wealth of experience gained on the stage. Jan Kiepura sings delightfully; Sonnie Hale fools with freedom and charm. Also in the cast are Aileen Marson, a young artist who undoubtedly has a fine screen career before her, Emlyn Williams, Muriel George, Reginald Smith and George Merritt. "My Song for You" is a picture which will entertain the whole family.

Showing as a second feature will be Matheson Lang, in "Little Friend."

"Happiness Ahead" Coming Saturday

Although the story is straight comedy drama there are four special songs, catchy airs written by three of the most famous song writing teams, Allie Wrubel and Mort Dixon, Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal and Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby.

Powell sings two of the songs alone, "Pop Goes My Heart" and "Beauty Must Be Love" and also joins with Frank McHugh in a duet, "Massaging Window Panes." A fourth song, "All on Account of a Strawberry Sundae," is sung by Dorothy Dare, the famous Broadway musical comedy star who makes her screen bow in this production.

WM. MAYNARD ATTENDS COURT

Civil Action Initiated by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown to Recover Their Home

The William Maynard case was revived in a civil form before Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson of the Supreme Court here to-day when Joseph Robert Brown and Agnes Emelia Brown took action to recover their home at 2916 Fifth Street, which had passed into the hands of Mr. Maynard.

Mr. Maynard, who early in the autumn at the conclusion of his criminal trial was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, came over from the mainland on the night boat and was in court for the start of to-day's proceedings.

Four lawyers are on the case. H. W. Davey is counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Brown in their efforts to get back their home; Forrest L. Shaw for H. G. Hinton, the Maynard bankruptcy trustee; C. H. O'Halloran for the Attorney-General and Minister of Finance of B.C., and A. J. Paton for Mr. Maynard and his wife.

Mr. Davey explained the action was for damages against Mr. Maynard for fraud for inducing the Browns to transfer to himself their house and property, which he at once mortgaged to Mrs. Edith Richardson instead of holding it in trust for the Browns for sale as he had agreed.

He reviewed the involved transactions, starting with the $3,000 mortgage to Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Edith Helmcken on the Maynard Elk Lake property and tracing them through to the switching of the mortgage to the Browns' property after he had been entrusted with title to it.

"Maynard undertook to sell the Brown's property for $5,000 and on this induced them to put the deeds in his name," Mr. Davey said.

He went on to explain that the Browns were seeking judgment against Mr. Maynard so that they could recover the amount they were out from the assurance fund operated under the Minister of Finance to meet the demands of such contingencies. He said it was necessary to get judgment against Mr. Maynard before the Browns could claim on the assurance fund.

C. H. O'Halloran followed Mr. Davey and raised a number of technical objections to the proceedings.

Henry L. Robinson of the Land Registry Office was called as first witness.

Plectral Group Gives Concert

Audience Hears Orchestra Conducted by George Dyke Give Performance

The Victoria Plectral Orchestra had every reason to be satisfied with the manner of the reception of its programme of fourteen numbers in a concert given at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The performances of this group of players have always proved exhilarating. Under its conductor, George J. Dyke, who succeeds in getting from his players the strong lights and shadows, the orchestra gave to the various items virility, and delightfully interpreted variations of tempo.

Specially featured were five nationalistic dances. Before each number Mr. Dyke briefly referred to its nature and characteristics. The numbers were: The Hungarian Dance No. 6 (Brahms); Spanish Dance No. 2 (Moszowski); Polish Dance (Scharwenka); Norwegian Dance No. 2 (Grieg), and Danse Russe Trepak, from Tchaikovski's "Nutcracker Suite."

Other numbers finding special favor were a new march by Percy Scott, "The Phantom Regiment," dedicated to Bandmaster Highfield, and the same composer's "Lieutenant-Governor's March," also a dedication. Thorne's "Simple Confession," von suppe's "Light Cavalry Overture," and Czibulka's "Love's Dream After the Ball," also found favor.

The assisting soloists were Mrs. H. R. Dawe, soprano, who sang two numbers, "A Cycle of Life," by Ronald, and Henderson's "Break of Day," and Robert Husband, tenor, who sang "Homing" and "Perspicacity." Both singers were accompanied by Jesse Longfield.

Herbert Cartwright contributed two violin solos with considerable taste, discrimination and warmth of tone. His numbers were Papini's "Tarantille," and a paraphrase of "My Old Kentucky Home," shared in as a duet by his accompanist.

NOT READY FOR PRICE-FIXING

Report B.C. Planning Legislation Next Session Is Denied Here

B.C. is not prepared to enter the realm of general price-fixing and industrial codes, it was indicated authoritatively at the Parliament Buildings this morning.

Reports current in eastern Canada that the government would introduce legislation at the next session on price-fixing, with a view to restricting its economic nationalism to a provincial basis were officially denied.

The rumors originated, it appeared, from difficulties encountered in drafting effective marketing schemes which would protect local growers against outside competition. The suggestion was advanced by Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, that imported goods competing with local products controlled by marketing schemes should submit to the regulations imposed on the B.C. produced goods. As an alternative, it was pointed out the province has authority to control prices if it wished.

Before anything of this nature is attempted, however, marketing schemes will be given a chance to work themselves out, it is understood. Beef cattle and sheep men, applying to Ottawa for ratification of their schemes, were prepared to ask for the right to control imports, but now propose to first secure approval of their initial scheme regulations.

The accused stated the cow had charged him while he was out hunting on December 1 in the Highland district. He was accompanied by a younger companion who got away, but he was forced to shoot the animal in self defence, he said.

Fire insurance appraisers are now in the city examining stocks of furniture damaged in the fire which occurred recently in the Hudson's Bay Company warehouse. Because of the damaged condition of the warehouse the furniture in question has been transferred to the old McLennan, McFeely Building, at the corner of Johnson and Government Streets. It has been found that a good deal more damage was done to the furniture by water than at first supposed. After the appraisers have completed their adjustments a sale will be held, announcement of which will be made shortly.

Brethour, solicitor, that Mr. Paterson denied the gift of the property as well as authorization of the construction of the house. P. J. Sinnott, counsel for Mr. MacKinnon, read into the records letters of attack, which it was alleged, had been written by relatives of the defence.

Five Hundred Fall With Floor

Caretaker's Presence of Mind Prevents Explosion in Liverpool School

Liverpool, Eng., Dec. 13.—A quick-thinking janitor here was credited to-day with having averted disaster when a collapsing floor dropped nearly 500 persons into a terrified mass fourteen feet to the floor below.

The floor collapsed at St. Clement's School yesterday evening while school children and their parents were enjoying a concert celebrating the beginning of the Christmas holidays. Approximately 150 were injured, and thirty-three of them, mostly women and children, were taken to a hospital.

Only the presence of mind of the school's janitor, named Doughty, said officials, prevented a major disaster. When the screaming assemblage was plunged downward in darkness, Doughty ran to the basement and cut off the gas supply, eliminating danger of fire and explosion.

Rescuers told stories of narrow escapes. A little fellow of eight lay helpless, one foot jammed beneath a beam, suffering great pain, but he only murmured, "Do hurry, please."

A boy of thirteen, his head badly cut, dashed home to report "Mother, I have torn my trousers."

The concert hall, on the second floor of the school, was packed with people. The floor suddenly began to sag and then collapsed in the middle. A heavy piano fell to the first floor, but injured no one, and its position aided many to climb up to it to escape through a window.

Firemen and police freed many of the trapped persons, who screamed for aid. Trucks, tramcars and private automobiles aided ambulances in taking the injured to hospitals.

Marseilles, France, Dec. 13.—Fears that the freighter Schiaffion and its crew of twenty-four men went to the bottom during the week's heavy storm increased to-day with discovery on the coast of several empty barrels which belonged to the ship.

George Stewart Woodland is being held by provincial police on twenty-three charges of embezzlement, according to radio advices reaching headquarters here to-day. It was reported the accused man is a former accountant of McKenzie Limited, Williams Lake. The total amount involved in the charges is $2,100, and bail has been set at $2,000. The charges arose from offences alleged to have been committed over the period from June, 1933, to September, 1934. The preliminary hearing will proceed on Tuesday.

W. G. Peter, a world traveler of London, England, arrived in the city yesterday and is at the Empress Hotel awaiting the sailing of the liner Empress of Japan on Saturday for the Orient.

LOCAL EAGLES HEAR ADDRESS

The Victoria Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was yesterday evening addressed on matters of special interest to the order by H. Tidy, president of the New Westminster Aerie No. 20. Mr. Tidy was guest of honor at a meeting attended by a large number of officers and brethren.

A social was held following the business session, with A. Pyng in the chair and F. Cawsey in charge of the programme. Brethren who took part in the evening's entertainment were: Arthur Holloway, A. McKinnon, F. Cawsey, F. T. Lavery, Mr. White, and Stanley Cawsey. R. Smith was the were given by the Lavery Harmonica accompanist, and several selections Band.

A Christmas treat for children of mmebers will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. on December 28, it was announced. Arrangements for this event are in charge of Past President C. H. Lester and a specially appointed committee. Members are asked to notify the secretary concerning the arrangements for attendance of children.

ANOTHER SCOT JOINS GYROS

Ed Whyte Is Shanghaied Into Job of Goods Receiver at Headquarters

When Ed. Whyte, secretary of the Victoria Burns Club, went into the Gyro Hamper Fund headquarters at the corner of Yates and Vancouver Streets yesterday evening to present the club's donation of $50 towards Christmas cheer for needy families, he found himself in a new job.

In a trice he was securely tied up, and is now working long hours as official receiver of goods in the packing room.

Mr. Whyte is the second Scot to be enrolled in high office in the campaign. Already the Gyros boast Bob Smith, official radio announcer.

This morning Mr. Whyte had a broad Scot's grin on his face as he supervised the unpacking of a load of cartons of sugar in the great garage behind the headquarters at the corner of Yates and Vancouver Streets, which will be the hamper fund packing room when the packing starts

FOOD POURS IN

Food is beginning to pour into the headquarters in big and small lots. This morning the garage held a stack of potatoes, all packed into individual bags and a stack of apples equally large and similarly packed, a pile of 1,500 big boxes of rolled oats, an almost equal lot of packed sugar, and a great variety of canned and bottled goods of all descriptions.

Every department of the headquarters is humming at present; typewriters click, telephones ring incessantly, and everybody knows exactly what he or she is doing.

Not a single cent from the money donated has gone or will go into office or administrative expenses. It is the boast of the Gyros that gifts will go 100 per cent into the hampers. Not even a pot of mucilage or a ball of twine comes out of the cash collected or given. Such items are either begged, borrowed or come out of the pockets of the Gyros themselves.

BUILDING GIVEN FREE

To clear up several misunderstandings as to the origin of the luxurious headquarters of the Gyro Hamper Fund at the corner of Yates and Vancouver Streets, Mr. Butteris today announced the building was donated to the fund entirely free of charge by Luney Brothers, along with many privileges and facilities.

PREDICTS BIG TRAVEL YEAR

Honolulu Visitor Enthusiastic Following Tour of Continent

In the person of Dickson Knott of the Honolulu Advertiser, the greatest optimist heard for a long time on the prospects of 1935 travel, called at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau

From observations made during a tour of the United States and Canada that started in September, Mr. Knott predicts that 1935 will see the people of the whole continent loosening up on money they have saved and start traveling.

"They say trade follows the salesman," said Mr. Knott. "Salesmen are traveling again on every train, bus and boat. People are going travel-minded again. Honolulu is getting its share. People are leaving home for Christmas to go to Honolulu. Transportation men, and I saw scores of them on the trip, report heavy bookings now and heavy advance bookings."

"I've got great news. Let this Hawaiian come up for air. What a travel season 1935 is going to be!" said Mr. Knott in a burst of enthusiasm. "Travel is in the public mind. You hear it everywhere you go."

TWO OAKLANDS HOMES ENTERED

Break-ins of two homes in the Oaklands district yesterday evening were being investigated by the city police to-day. Reports of the entries were received within fifteen minutes of each other, shortly after 11 o'clock and both were investigated by Detectives J. H. Rogers and Fearon Woodburn.

G. Hetherington, 2750 Forbes Street, reported his home entered by a pass key through the basement door. Ninety-five cents was missing. By the use of a pass key through the rear door thieves entered the home of J. White at 2933 Cedar Hill Road. An open-faced gold-filled watch was stolen.

In both instances burned safety matches were found scattered through the rooms.

SCOUTS SEEK FURTHER TOYS

Benefit Matinee to Be Staged at Capitol and Dominion Saturday Morning

The immediate support of all citizens of Victoria who are looking forward to spending a cheerful Christmas with their families is asked to help bring some small portion of that happy spirit to the doors of many children in the city for whom Christmas Day will be just another grey day if the help is not forthcoming.

The Boy Scout toy workshop at 623 Yates Street is busy rebuilding and repainting old toys, and receiving new ones, for distribution among families in the city to whom Santa Claus would not otherwise come.

Already several thousand toys have been sent to Scout headquarters, ready for distribution, but there are many thousand children in the city who have little prospect of a happy Christmas.

MATINEE SATURDAY

Large contributions of toys to the Scouts' campaign are expected from the benefit children's show being staged Saturday morning at the Capitol and Dominion theatres by The Times and The Colonist, with the help of Famous Players (Canadian) Corporation.

The show will offer a fine programme of entertainment, made up of comics, Our Gang films and cartoons. The only admission asked will be a toy or a can of food. The food will go to swell the Gyro Club Christmas Hamper Fund's supplies.

In view of the rush of toys expected by the Scouts from this show, all who intend to make gifts of playthings to the workshop are asked to do so, if possible, within the next two days.

LECTURES ON WEST INDIES

Miss Hilda Hesson Takes Rotarians on Trip to Interesting Tropical Islands

A descriptive talk on the British West Indies, their people climate, beauty and natural phenomena was given to members of the Rotary Club at luncheon at the Empress Hotel today by Miss Hilda Hesson of the Canadian Pacific Steamship staff at Winnipeg who is a visitor to Victoria.

The island of Barbados, Miss Hesson said, was first glimpsed by a Portugese sailor early in 1500. A group of English sailors in the vessel Olive Blossom next sighted the island and since that time it had remained British. This island was the most thickly populated section of the world, with the exception of China. There were 1,140 people to the square mile, Miss Hesson stated. It was so British that it has its Trafalgar Square "with a rather jaundiced and bad-tempered looking Nelson."

FAMOUS CLUB

George Washington also once visited this island, Miss Hesson said, and was entertained by the "Tripe and Beefsteak Club," who served him tripe and beefsteak, washed down by generous potions of rum.

Miss Hesson spoke of the sugar plantations of Barbados, stating the canes grew to twelve and fourteen feet in height. All through the island the negro population lived in tiny little houses, as many as ten to seventeen persons sleeping in hermetically sealed rooms to keep out the ghosts and bogies.

The negroes of Barbados, intellectually, were of a low type, Miss Heson said. Their highest mental growth was reached at the age of twelve, and from then on was at a standstill.

LAKE OF PITCH

Trinidad was once Spanish, the speaker said, but was now British and probably had the most cosmopolitan population of any of the British West Indies group. She spoke of the Lake of Pitch, which is 115 acres in extent. It had been used for several hunderd years, and hundreds of tons had been taken from it, but it had only gone down fifteen feet.

Asphalt was dug out of it with pick axes. It seems to have an endless supply, she said.

Port of Spain, the capital of Trinidad, had suffered catastrophe many times, Miss Hesson recalled. It was put to the torch by Sir Henry Morgan, one of the most notorious pirates of all time and by Sir Walter Raleigh. It had been laid flat by tornados, but had always arisen, Phoenix-like, from its ashes. It was not a beautiful city, architecturally, but very interesting because of its cosmopolitan nature.

Jamaica, because of its mountainous formation had a scenery that was unique; Miss Hesson said. She spoke of the beauty of the orchids in Kingston, which had tropical heat. The rivers of Jamaica were not navigable, but were beautiful, she said.

The colored population of this island was of a much higher type than that of Barbados, the speaker said. The leading surgeon of the island was a colored man. There were colleges and universities and visitors found a fine, intellectual type there.

NEW MEMBER

J. Morse Hatt, president of the club presided and introduced Miss Hesson, and also thanked her for her interesting talk.

George Hamilton Harman, recently appointed manager of the Bank of Montreal here, was introduced as a new member of the Rotary Club by E. W. McMullen.

P. B. Scurrah, governor of Rotary District No. 1, was a guest at the luncheon with Mrs. Scurrah.

Charles H. French spoke on behalf of the Saanich Christmas Hamper Fund and also congratulated the Gyro Club for its fine work in raising money for needy persons at Christmas.

Metchosin

The monthly meeting of the horticultural section of the Metchosin District Community Club was held in the Community Hall Monday evening. The chair was occupied by Charles E. Whitney Griffiths, who introduced the speakers. Norman Rant gave a comprehensive address on "Rock gardens and their formation," illustrating his remarks with lantern slides of many gardens in England, Victoria and elsewhere. Following Mr. Rant, C. L. Harrison, president of the Alpine Club, exhibited slides of scenery on Vancouver Island, and spoke of the destruction which was being carried on in various parts of the province in logging off the timber which was one of the great assets in the attraction of the tourist. Mr. Harrison also gave an instructive talk on "Edible Fungi." A vote of thanks was moved to the speakers by Rev. W. C. Gemmill, seconded by Rev. H. M. Bolton.

The annual entertainment and Christmas Tree of the children of the Metchosin School will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 21, in the Community Hall. The principal of the school, A. B. Boyer, is in charge of arrangements. Violet Clarke will direct the children's plays and Valerie Ellwood will conduct the dancing.

GYROS AND SCOUTS THEIR SANTA CLAUS

Many sad hearts in Victoria will be brightened this Christmas through the activities of the Gyro Club and the Boy Scouts. The above drawing portrays a distressed mother staring straight ahead, not daring to answer the questions of her little son, "Will Santa Claus bring me something?" Thanks to the Boy Scouts, Santa Claus will visit all the poor children this Christmas. The Scouts are now receiving toys and repairing them at their headquarters, 623 Yates Street. To see that all the poor in the city receive hampers is the task of the Gyro Club, which has established headquarters at the corner of Vancouver and Yates streets. The Gyros are now busy receiving donations for their big undertaking.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

VICTORIA AND DISTRICT LOCAL COUNCIL OF A.Y.P.A.

Final arrangements have been completed for the fellowship rally which will be held in St. John's Church on Sunday evening next. A special young people's sermon will be given by Canon F. A. P. Chadwick.

ST. JOHN'S

"A Ramble About the Victoria of 1900," was the topic of an amusing address given the members of St. John's A.Y.P.A. on Monday evening by S. C. Hawkins.

Commencing at the City Hall, Mr. Hawkins went north along Douglas Street, stopping for a moment to view the sight of the "Old Iron Church," being St. John's Anglican, which was then situated on Pleasant Street. He went on Bay Street west to Government Street, into Victoria West, which remains unchanged, back to Government, where several amusing incidents were recalled. Viewing a number of interesting relics, the speaker turned his footsteps west along Fort Street, stopping to briefly review the interesting history of the Causeway and surrounding district. Returning by way of Douglas Street, along which Mr. Hawkins pointed out several old land marks, the tour came to a close at the City Hall, where Mr. Hawkins again recited many humorous stories of its past history.

Prior to the lecture an initiation service was held when Miss T. Ridout and John Tait were elected members.

The Sunday School Christmas entertainment will be held on December 28, and all A.Y.P.A. members are invited to be present.

HALF SAANICH FUND DONATED

Contributions Reach $500 in Municipal Drive to Assist Needy

Donations to the Saanich Christmas Hamper Fund to-day passed the half-way mark towards the objective of $1,00. Reeve Crouch said he was deeply appreciative of some of the smaller contributions, as he realized these contributions meant a greater sacrifice than some of the larger amounts sent in. "If the people of Saanich who could well afford a dollar or more towards this fund only realized the necessity, there would be no trouble in obtaining the objective of $1,000." the reeve said.

Contributions may be sent to the Saanich Hamper Fund, Royal Oak, or the Saanich Welfare Association.

All applications for hampers should be made as soon as possible to the Saanich health nurses.

HIGH SCHOOL WANTED FIRST

Special to The Times

Duncan, Dec. 13. — The regular monthly meeting of the Duncan Parent-teacher Association was held in the K. of P. Hall on Tuesday evening, R. A. Thorpe presiding. Mrs. Jennie Macdonald gave an interesting talk on "The Power of the Vote." All routine business was suspended in favor of the discussion with members of the school board who were present, on the proposed new gymnasium. Mr. Blanshard, principal of Duncan Elementary School, reported for the gymnasium committee, and pointed out the urgent necessity for a gymnasium. The chairman of the board, O. T. Smythe, outlined the position of the trustees in regard to a new high school which is of vital importance, as the present building is entirely inadequate, and moreover, has been condemned. While the board recognize the usefulness of a gymnasium, they do not consider the present time is a favorable one to put two by-laws before the people, one for high school and one for a gymnasium, and the most pressing need is undoubtedly for a new high school at the present time.

Dr. H. P. Swan attended by request, as medical officer, and said that of the two projects the high school was certainly the most urgent, as the present building is unfit for use and a new one an absolute necessity. A gymnasium would be a very good thing, but he thought it inadvisable to try for both at the present time.

The association passed a resolution agreeing to support the school board in any action it saw fit to take.

It was announced that at the next meeting on January 15, Mrs. Dalmage of Vancouver, past president of the Provincial P.-T.A., will give an address to the association here.

Big Atlantic Liners Fight Ice and Gales

Majestic, Bremen, Conte di Savoia, Washington, Albert Ballin and Others All Running One Day Behind Schedule Because of Storms Crossing From Europe

New York, Dec. 13.—Ice-laden liners, many hours late, and faint distress signals told a graphic story Wednesday of winter on the high seas.

SOS signals—so faint as to defy identification—were heard by ship and shore stations. Mackay Radio Corporation picked up two such calls from an unidentified ship. Others, also untraced, were heard by the Ss. F. L. Luckenbach in the Caribbean.

Down in the Pacific, south of Mexico and west of Salvador, the Ss. American reported to the Radio Marine Corporation's Port Arthur, Texas, station, that she had sighted rocket flares, presumably from a distressed vessel.

Sheathed in ice by a bitter gale off the Grand Banks, great liners, among them the Paris of the French Line, slid into dock from twelve to twenty-four hours late. The Paris was delayed nearly a day.

White Star's Majestic fought the same gale and docked nearly twenty hours late.

ALL DELAYED

From the south, the Western Prince, due Wednesday night, was delayed until Thursday. The Italian liner Di Savoia from Mediterranean ports was ten hours late in arriving Wednesday night. The North German Lloyd liner Bremen, nearly a day late, reported heavy going would keep her at sea until Friday.

The Washington was several hours late Wednesday night and the Albert Ballin, which stood by to see the storm-lashed Japanese freighter Victoria Maru convoyed in safety on Monday, may be a day late Saturday.

Off Jones Inlet, N.Y., coastguardsmen rescued two men in a cabin cruiser who had been reported missing for a day en route to Freeport from Hammels, N.Y.

And the Atlantic gale, it developed, had ended for the time being the cat-and-mouse game between a coastguard cutter and the suspected rum runner Mary Kenney. Under cover of Monday night's weather, the Mary Kenney slipped out of sight. She has not been since seen.

The game developed between the steamer, under the eye of the cutter Champlain for several days, informed the latter's commander that he was without food and fuel and asked for a tow. The coastguardsmen refused to tow, but offered to take off the Mary Kenney's crew.

This did not appeal to the steamer, and the waiting match continued throughout the storm.

TOWBOAT MEN WILL STRIKE

Unless More Pay and Shorter Hours Forthcoming Olympia Operators Will Quit

Olympia, Dec. 13.—Forty towboat men of Olympia, members of the Ferryboatmen's Union of the Pacific Coast and Local No. 6 of the Puget Sound Division, Masters, Mates and Pilots, yesterday voted to go on strike unless increases in wages, shorter hours and recognition of their organizations are granted by their employers, according to word received on the Seattle waterfront.

Three Olympic companies, the Delta Smythe Towing Company, the Capitol Towing Company and the Olympia Towing Company, are involved in the controversy, which is expected to extend to all other Puget Sound ports.

The strike vote followed a visit to Olympia and Seattle of C. W. Deal of San Francisco, secretary and business manager of the Ferryboatmen's Union of the Pacific Coast.

Only the Port of Olympia is affected at the present time by the move, which was said to be in answer to the suit filed December 4 in the Thurston County Superior Court by Washington towboat companies to prevent the state from licensing and regulating them.

Judge D. F. Wright has set December 17 as the date for the State Department of Labor and Industries to show cause why it should not be permanently enjoined from regulatory activities on shipping in state waters.

SEA CAPTAIN WILL RETIRE

Capt. David Taylor Leaves Bridge of Ss. Letitia After Many Years at Sea

Montreal, Dec. 13.—The departure of the liner Letitia from Quebec closes the career as far as Canada is concerned a Captain David Taylor, O.B.E., who has commanded steamers in the Canadian trade ever since 1897. He is retiring at the close of the present voyage after many years' service with the Donaldson and Anchor-Donaldson Lines.

Captain Taylor first went to sea in the '80's, securing a berth in a sailing ship engaged on the coastal trade of Great Britain. At the time this ship was nearly 100 years old, and so Captain Taylor is probably one of the few men of to-day who have seen service in the regular trading of a ship built long before the Battle of Trafalgar.

It was in 1893 that Captain Taylor first came to Montreal as an officer on one of the cargo boats of the Donaldson Line and in 1895 he secured command of one of Donaldson Brothers' steamers engaged on the Glasgow-Baltimore run.

WAR ACTIVITIES

In 1897 Captain Taylor returned once more to the St. Lawrence trade, but this time in command of the Amarynthia for many years well known to Scottish and Canadian shippers. Until the war Captain Taylor continued in the Canadian trade, latterly in command of the Donaldson passenger ship Saturnia, and it was suddenly on the outbreak of war that this ship was commandeered by the British Government the very hour that she had taken her passengers on board at Glasgow and was ready to sail for Canada, when she was hastily converted into a troop ship, and taking her down to Southampton Captain Taylor brought his first troops on board and landed them at Havre within ten days of the outbreak of war.

From that time Captain Taylor's experiences varied with the necessities of the British forces in different parts of the world. Going to the Mediterranean the Saturnia served as a troop ship and munition carrier during the Dardanelles Campaign, and later on as an ambulance carrier of 1,000 severely wounded stretcher cases from Lemnos home to England. Later on Captain Taylor took his ship to India and carried Indian troops to France, landing them at Marseilles.

On February 1, 1917, his ship was attacked by a submarine, but the single gun which she carried was manned and handled to such good effect that the submarine had to disengage and did not secure an opportunity of firing a second torpedo.

Coming out of the war unscathed and with the record of never having had his ship damaged, though for a large part of the time continually in the areas affected by enemy action, Captain Taylor resumed his service on the regular Canadian trade, and as the Donaldson Line passenger service had now been taken over by the Anchor-Donaldson Line, he took command of the new ships as they came into operation, first the Athenia and then the Letitia.

It must have been reminiscent to Captain Taylor of his war experience when during the first four months of this year he took the Letitia down to the Mediterranean on a winter cruise, but under the more peaceful auspices of the Hellenic Travel Association, on a tour designed to visit and study the ancient Greek centres of civilization.

Throughout all his thirty-nine years of being the traditional "old man" of a British merchantman, Captain Taylor has never lost his fresh outlook on life, and to his many friends here it has seemed that the twinkle in his eye has grown more jolly with every passing year.

His many friends throughout Canada note with the greatest regret the retirement of the senior captain of the St. Lawrence, and one of the senior captains in command of an ocean going passenger vessel the whole world over.

Their warm wishes go to Captain Taylor and his home on the Ayrshire Coast, which looks toward the west and from which he will watch the blue waters of the Firth of Clyde, which he has sailed for so many years.

He said the company had agreed to give the men the benefit of increased wages and improved working conditions which are expected to result from a conference now under way in New York. The union had not sanctioned the strike, but Gill aided in the settlement.

The men had asked higher wages and improvid working conditions pending final arbitration of last summer's strike.

The reason is that I think we should in this Vancouver Island plan use only Vancouver Island products.

From my experience, for good greased pig chasing sport, pigs that are fast on their feet are required.

These are not produced on this island, where only the heavier breeds are favored, such as the bacon hogs which are slow movers.

At a debate recently there was a laugh raised when one woman said that even some of the fat men of Victoria could soon catch these Vancouver Island pigs.

What is needed for good sport is a fast pig like the field breeds we had in England or the nut feeders on the Ontario farms.

They would give good sport for days before being caught and would undoubtedly bring many athletes here to take part in the chasing.

But as one gentleman said at the debate, it would be against the spirit of the thing if we had to bring in outside animals to provide the sport.

We are all out to boost Vancouver Island products and as we have no fast pigs here for the chases, the committee would be wise in seeking some other kind of sport of a home-grown kind.

OSWALD GRANGER.

IS THIS THE GUY'S ELEMENT?

To the Editor:—A correspondent in your excellent publication recently compared George Bernard Shaw to "Tarzan" and dubbed him "savage"—I think that opinion erroneous and unflattering to Mr. Shaw. Though not a student of the works of Edgar Rice Burroughs, I understand that Tarzan wrestled enthusiastically with wild beasts, and had a peculiar cry similar to a yodel. If G.B.S. is an accomplished yodeller I'm sure he would have told us about it, or given recitals, for he is not one to hide his light under a bashful mien.

As to Mr. Shaw being a "savage" because of his disregard for and contempt of established rules, that is a mistaken idea. Savages are strictly bound by customs and taboos and dominated by superstition and fear. It is difficult to conceive that to prevent our civilization from breaking down we must mend it by listening to the words of inspired savages, and to prevent people from being "utter bores" we should promptly sympathize with free thinking "savages" inspired by taboos and witch-doctors. Really—in justice to Mr. Shaw, we protest.

George Bernard Shaw may be many things, but he is no yodelling chum to wild animals and it is certain that his opinions on voodoos, sanitation, and habits of bathing, would make him unpopular in "savage" society.

Byrd Party Finds Coal and Fossils

Interesting and Scientifically Valuable Discovery Made 182 Nautical Miles From South Pole

Little America, Antarctica, Dec. 13.—The geological sledging party of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition has come upon new coal fields and plant-bearing sandstone holding numerous fossils.

Quin Blackburn, leader of the party, in reporting the discovery to Admiral Richard E. Byrd by radio yesterday, said the find was made 182 nautical miles from the South Pole at the head of Thorne Glacier in the Queen Maud Range.

The discovery was the rich reward of an arduous descent of this untraveled and unexplored Glacier Pass to the polar plateau and it came after the party had surpassed all ground penetrations into the interior since the polar dashes of Scott and Amundsen in 1911-1912.

Apparently the group commenced the ascent November 27 or 28 and finally reached the head of the glacier December 7. Judging from its mileage, the glacial stream rises at least 100 miles from the barrier to the plateaus. It is a river of hard slick blue ice, heavily crevassed.

Both seams of coal and fossils have been found previously at points in this great range rimming the south polar plateau, but none has been found near the pole. They both occur in association with the characteristics of beds of beason sandstone which cap the mountains of Victoria Land to the west and the mountains of the Queen Maud Range.

The coal deposit is presumed to be extensive. Griffith Taylor, well-known authority on Antarctica, has speculated on the possibility that Antarctica may possess the greatest coal reserves in the world, with the possible exception of those in the United States.

What species of fossils were found was not indicated. Presumably they were of a low order of plant life similar to the glossopteris found in the vicinity of Beardmor Glacier to the west.

In the geologic past this continent had a mild, even humid climate, scientists hold.

CREW SAFE BUT VESSEL IS LOST

Ottawa, Dec. 13—All members of the Eskimo crew of the wrecked Canadian Eskimo Expedition schooner Hazel are safe at Reid Island, south of Victoria Island, in the Canadian Arctic, according to word received by the radio branch here. Advice of the crew's rescue came yesterday from the radio station at Coppermine of the Department of Marine.

A dog team carried the news to the Coppermine radio station. The vessel Hazel, though, with a cargo of mail and supplies, is a total loss. A terrific storm drove her ashore near Cape Bearing on September 22.

A sudden idea for an evening's outing. It is lucky that Bill and Peggy have a telephone again. Otherwise you couldn't ring them, and you would have to try someone else.

Now that Bill and Peggy have a telephone it is easy to invite them to go places, and easy to call up and say you are dropping in for the evening.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

ALL IS not rosy with Victoria's rep rugby selection this year. The trail that once led through systematic workouts to the objective of a smoothly functioning fifteen, has turned particularly bumpy.

* * *

The fireworks were touched off last Tuesday evening when the Victoria Rugby Union met for their weekly gathering. But they do not appear to have finished yet.

* * *

A difficult task at the best, the selection of candidates for the rep team this year is all the harder through a slight rift in the selectors themselves.

* * *

Indignation is reported to have been expressed by Canadian Scottish delegates over the announced probables released this week. The list gave only one berth to the highlanders. The Wanderers are alleged to have expressed a certain bitterness over their exclusion from the favored lists, while the Navy, unbeaten in league play this year, voiced some suprise over the comparatively small number of sailors picked for tryouts by the committee.

* * *

and has not altogether been do worse than select the Navy in toto abandoned yet, that Victoria might do worse than select the Navy into and plug up that fifteen with stars of other squads. The speed of the sailors, however, came into question.

* * *

Down the grapevine trickles news that Bob Travis, Canadian Scottish intermediate leader, is not altogether satisfied with the selection. A member of the selection committee, he is reported to have declined to sit with the other members when they drew up their prospective players early this week. He had announced his unwillingness to suggest men on the grounds that he had not seen the seniors in action sufficiently this year to [illegible] Tuesday he resigned.

* * *

Satisfied with the very good reason the other selectors are purported to have gone ahead with their work, only to find their efforts greeted with disapproval in several sources.

* * *

Those who have followed rugby may be inclined to figure Ted Colgate another Scottish protege, worthy of consideration on an all-Victoria team. They would do so on his performances in recent games. But they might remember back a little further to the days when he looked good in ordinary games, but failed to resist high pressure in the pinches. All who have watched the games this year think there is no mistake in the selection of Jack Banks from the highlanders.

* * *

There is this to be said for the selectors—they have their own ideas of play and they would naturally pick those boys whom they believed capable of adopting the type of game the selectors think best fitted to meet the competition the team will face.

* * *

On that basis, they might not necessarily pick an aggregation of shining lights from the various squads, but rather, those boys who would fit into a neat fifteen.

* * *

Criticism has been murmured against the inclusion of seven Fifth Brigade players in the list of candidates although the Gunners have bowed twice to the Navy in as many meetings. The answer to that may be speed and stamina. The Gunners seem to have lost their two games this year more through errors by individuals than by the falling down of the whole team.

* * *

It is safe to predict one of the storm centres if a storm arises, will be Roddy McInnes, one of the most unassuming players that have come into prominence here. Roddy has been at the top of the tree, as far as local fullbacks are concerned, since Jack Bryden quit the lists. As a star the critics have been more apt to pick out his faults than his virtues, while they pay particular attention to the smart plays of other contenders for that position and forget about their boners.

* * *

Apart from fullbacks, there are so few good backfield men left in the city, the job should not be particularly onerous in picking up a three-quarter line and the halves.

* * *

The stage looks set for some heavy drama, with the British Columbia Rugby Union contributing as the theme song—"What are we going to use for money?"

Intercity Rivals To Meet In Grudge Battle To-morrow

Bang-up Exhibition of Boxla Assured at Willows; Teams Announced

Will Admit Boys With Sticks Free

Behind the clever stick-handling, neat floor work, hard checking and smooth passing that goes to make a bang-up box lacrosse game, the hundreds who throng to the Kiwanis-sponsored exhibition at the Willows Horse Show building to-morrow evening will see something more.

They will see a grudge fight of the first order between two teams of rival players who have chosen a neutral court to settle an argument of long standing.

Word to that effect was contained in the letter received to-day which announced the line-ups for the New Westminster Adanacs and Vancouver Bluebirds, rival teams for the encounter.

The big game will start at 8.15 o'clock. The doors to the building will be open at 7 o'clock and the first fifty youngsters presenting themselves at the portals with lacrosse sticks, not necessarily new, will be admitted free of charge. They will be allowed to show their wares on the floor prior to the exhibition.

COLORFUL PLAYERS

Requests from the rival managers have been received asking that the changing rooms of the two aggregations be placed as far apart as possible. They wish no casualties off the floor.

[illegible] will play goal for the Adanacs. As defencemen they have Wally Mercer, Hu Gifford and J. McQuarrie. S. Greenall and F. Ostrekoff will alternate as rovers with H. Stoddard and Archie McDonald sharing duty at centre. Jack Wood, Len Stoddard and Ken Mathewson will be forwards. Man MacDonald will be an extra defence.

BLUEBIRDS LINEUP

Against them the Bluebirds will pit Happy Smith in goal, with Wally Ross, Sonny Chestnut and Ralph McIntyre on the defence. "Smithy" Smith will be utility man and Bryce Spring and "Doc" Nicholl are listed as rovers. George Weinborn and Johnny Dale are slated as alternate centres and Jim Bryan, "Mickey" McGuire, Alf Davey and "Doughy" Spring forwards.

Late reports to-day indicated all features of the exhibition were guaranteed success. Of twenty-eight available boxes, twenty had been sold this morning. There were still a few other seats available, although tickets were going rapidly.

BAND TO ATTEND

The event has all the aspects of a natural. It will attract the scores of old timers who used to play the outdoor game and will draw followers of speedy, high pressure sport. As an introduction to the game which has swept the length and breadth of Canada with increasing popularity, the fixture should be a huge success. There is no doubt over the calibre of the teams.

And when the expenses are deducted, the funds from the gate, expected to be a sellout, will be devoted to those charities sponsored by the Kiwanians.

Rain Postpones Cup Rugby Game

Owing to the rain and heavy condition of the pitch yesterday afternoon's scheduled opening Howard Russell Cup rugby match between teams from the Victoria and Oak Bay High Schools was postponed. The game was to have been played on the grounds of the Victoria team. The series will not be opened now until after the holidays.

BAER WOULD FIGHT TWICE

Heavyweight Champ Wants to Meet Lasky and Hamas on Same Evening

Cleveland, Dec. 13.—Champion Max Baer is really in earnest, it now appears, in his proposal to meet Art Lasky and Steve Hamas, on the same night, with his heavyweight title at stake.

It is strictly a matter of business with the champ, based on his belief that a double-header for the world's biggest fistic crown probably would attract one of the largest fight crowds in history.

Asserting it would be the first time the heavyweight championship had been risked twice on the same programme, Baer estimates the gate receipts would approach a cool million, with his own share of the total running between $300,000 and $500,000.

TEN ROUNDERS

Max's proposal is to meet Lasky in the first of the two bouts, each scheduled for ten rounds. The winner, then either the old champion or a new one, would rest five minutes and take on Hamas.

Each of the three would be in condition for twenty rounds of boxing, and Max believes the winner of the first bout would be in perfectly good shape to enter the second.

In fact, the champ hints, there is little likelihood the first bout would go its full length, for both of the contenders would be trying for a quick knockout.

Max is willing to draw lots, he says, to decide whether Lasky would be scheduled for the opening bout and Hamas for the second, or vice versa. At the present moment the champion regards these two as the foremost of the heavyweight hopefuls.

Irish Fighters Are Great Need

It saddens McTigue that there is only one Irish-born battler listed as a world champion, Jimmy McLarnin, boss of the welters.

"Only the Irish can really fight," continued Mike. "I'm forty-two, but I can lick seventy-five per cent of these lads posing as heavyweights and cruiserweights."

Clint Smith Tops Northwest Scorers

Vancouver Lions' Centre Ice Star Sets Pace in Northwest Hockey League With Eleven Points; Jack Tabor, Seattle, Second With Eight

Calgary, Dec. 13.—Clint Smith, Vancouver Lions' starry centre ice man, stands at the top of the Northwestern Hockey League statistics table, unofficial figures reveal. Smith tops the goal scorers' record in all three departments, goals, assists and total points. He has seven goals, four assists and eleven points.

Jack Tabor, Seattle Sea Hawks, occupied second place with six goals, two assists and a total of eight. Right on the leaders' heels came Walter McCartney, traded to Calgary this fall by Guy Patrick, Vancouver. With only three games behind him McCartney has run his total up to seven, six of them goals.

TIE FOR FIFTH

Art Gagne and Bill Carse, Edmonton, are tied for fifth place along with Tony Hemmerling, Seattle, and Hank Dyck, Vancouver. The veteran Gordon "Red" Fraser, Portland, has fourth place all to himself with 3-3-6.

The penalty parade has not had much time to develop yet, but in the six games he has played Sammy McAdam, Vancouver, spent the equivalent of a whole period in the penalty box, and so put himself at the top of that list with twenty minutes.

Statesman Arrives For $100,000 Race

Victor Emanuel's English-bred Colt Will Be Starter in Great Handicap at Santa Anita in February; Is Now Quartered at Belmont Park

New York, Dec. 13.—Victor Emanuel's Statesman, the four-year-old English-bred colt, which will furnish the international angle to the $100,000 handicap at Santa Anita, Cal., in February, has arrived in United States and is quartered at Belmont Park.

The latter part of this week he is scheduled to head west in the same car that will carry Mrs. James M. Austin's Mr. Khayyam to the scene of the rich stake.

As a three-year-old, he finished fourth in the Two Thuosand Guineas and ten days later wound up third in the Derby. Before the end of the season he captured the Lewes Nevill Plate at one and one-quarter miles, the Glamis Handicap of one and one-half miles at Windsor.

This year he won the Nevill Plate and took the Duke of York Plate in the fast time for English racing of 2.05 for one and one-quarter miles.

YOUNG TARZAN TO MEET PARKS

Interesting Wrestling Card at Tillicum Gym Saturday Night

An interesting wrestling match will be witnessed on Saturday night on Promoter Fred Richardson's all-star programme at the Tillicum Gym, when Herb Parks, well-known Vancouver grappler, will clinch with Young Tarzan, United States wrestler, in the five eight-minute round semi-windup.

Des Anderson and Bob Wagner will meet in the eight ten-minute round main event, and two local bouts will complete the card. The opener is scheduled to start at 8.30 o'clock.

Parks has performed here on a number of occasions, and mat fans need no introduction to this sensational Vancouver wrestler. He is well versed in the art of the bone-grinding game, and will supply strong opposition for any of the present-day middleweights.

Young Tarzan has carved his name in the middleweight division by means of a string of victories. Tarzan is not known in local mat circles, but according to reports he will be a worthy opponent for Parks.

Baseball Trading Market Is Dormant

Major League Session at New York May Wind-up Without Single Major Deal; Three-cornered Trade Between Giants, Pirates and Phillies Falls Through

New York, Dec. 13.—There is a strong probability that the current major league baseball meeting may wind up to-night without a single major deal to put an edge on the otherwise dull and lifeless proceedings.

This unheard of situation developed when the three-cornered swap between the New York, Pittsburgh and always-willing Philadelphia Nationals began wobbling and threatened to go by the board entirely.

Until midnight the thing seemed in the bag, with the Giants sending a young pitcher and a wad of cash to Philadelphia in return for George Davis, an outfielder for whom Bill Terry has cried since the day he sent him away; the Phillies for their part were to turn the cash and Catcher Al Todd over to the Pirates in exchange for Lloyd Waner and Earl Grace, a catcher.

THE HITCH

The hitch came about when Pittsburgh, desperately seeking an outfielder to replace Waner, tried to make the deal a four-cornered affair and lure Hall Lee away from the Boston Braves.

Bill McKechnie, cagy pilot of the Braves, was willing to part with Lee, but he turned thumbs down on all the talent offered in return, so the weary traders called it a night, with the whole affair very much up in the air.

The National League gave up its traditional stand against night baseball yesterday and agreed to let each team in the curcuit play seven home games next season under floodlights, as the pace of the annual major league conclaves quickened in everything except player trading.

After reports for the year indicated that only the world champions St. Louis Cardinals showed a profit for 1934, the moguls even went so far as to pave the way indirectly for Judge Emil Fuchs, chief owner of the Boston club, to operate a dog-track in the evenings in Braves Field, next summer, while his team plays its home games at Fenway Park, stronghold of the American League's Boston Red Sox.

NIGHT BASEBALL

Only New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers opposed the suggestion that each club be permitted to play one game at night at home against each of its league opponents. The decision, first in major league history in favor of a custom that now is common in the minors, is not binding on any club.

The financial standing of the American League apparently was much stronger as a whole, for unofficial figures revealed during the day showed an increase of $32,000 over 1933 in the paid attendance of all eight clubs, the Yankees being the highest individual gainer with an increase of 250,000 paid.

California Rugby Game Is Canceled

Southerners Will Not Come Up Boxing Day Victoria Union Advised; Make Plans for McKechnie Cup Game Against Vancouver December 26

Victoria's proposed rugby exhibition against the combined forces of California is cancelled. British Columbia has been invited to send a team to the sunshine state early in the spring with an assured guarantee of $2,000 in expense money. And Victoria will do everything in its power to hold a McKechnie Cup game against Vancouver on Boxing Day to fill in for the expected match against California.

Those were to-day's major developments on the local rugby front.

In a telegram to Fred Cabeldu, acting secretary of the British Columbia Rugby Union, Harry Malone, organizer of the California trip, announced cancelation of tentative plans for the visit of a combined team from the four California universities. The decision was reached at a conference of graduate managers of the Pacific Coast Conference in Los Angeles yesterday.

GIVE REASONS

"All concerned were in sympathy with the idea of a combined team visiting you at Christmas," the telegram read. "However, due to the lateness of British Columbia's invitation together with the American football season and the near approach of Christmas examinations in the four universities, I have been requested to ask if we could, for the above reasons and the insufficiency of time to gather together a really representative team, forego the trip to Canada this year. The four universities cordially invite the British Columbia Rugby Union to send a team down here in the spring of 1935. They will guarantee you $2,000 to cover expenses. This money has already been appropriated. I can assure you the graduate managers, together with those they represent, are in favor with the rugby movement. We need your moral support by a visit of a Canadian team, to assist in placing rugby before the American public," the wire said in part.

"I feel sure the Victoria Columbia union will go ahead with plans for a trip to California under those conditions," Fred Cabeldu, acting secretary stated.

He added Stanford would have come up for the exhibition games as a university unit, had that university not been playing in the Rose Bowl American game on New Year's Day.

Immediately upon the reception of the telegram, Cabeldu communicated by telephone with Vancouver announcing the cancelation. At the same time he made efforts to bring a Vancouver team across for the Boxing Day attraction.

He suggested the proposed Varsity-Vancouver McKechnie Cup game scheduled for Christmas Day, be postponed until New Year's Day to allow Vancouver to play here.

As a particularly tempting inducement, he offered the Vancouver team assistance in financing the trip to the Capital on Boxing Day if it could not meet its own expenses. Definite confirmation of the arrangements was expected late to-day.

Billy Hughes Will Coach Saint John

Saint John, Dec. 13. — William (Billy) Hughes, for the last three years coach of the Selkirk Fishermen Winnipeg, became coach of the Saint John team in the Maritime Mercantile League, yesterday. Announcement of this was made by E. R. Ingraham, president of the club, yesterday. Hughes replaces "Clint" Benedict.

Quebec Beavers Finally Beaten

Quebec, Dec. 13.—Big Andy Mulligan, ranked among the highest scoring defencemen of the Canadian-American Hockey League, made history here yesterday evening, scoring the only goal of the game for Providence Reds' 1 to 0 victory over Quebec Beavers.

The Rhode Islanders became the first team ever to invade Quebec Beavers' ice and take a victory since Beavers were admitted to the Canadian-American League two years ago. Mulligan scored on Jack Keating's assist in the first period.

WINDSOR IN HOCKEY WIN

Defeat Syracuse 3 to 1 in International Hockey League Fixture

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 13.—Syracuse Stars were forced to share third place in the International Hockey League standings with Windsor Bulldogs to-day. The Stars absorbed a 3 to 1 defeat here yesterday evening, which left the two teams tied behind Buffalo Bisons and the first place London Tecumsehs.

Early in the first period while Huggins was serving time, Sammy McManus scooped up Eddie Convey's pass for the first goal and a little more than a minute later Carson Cooper notched Windsor's second counter. Figuring in the play was Frank Steele.

Early in the second frame Scotty Martin took Bill Touhey's pass to [illegible] Syracuse goal, but "Whitey" Fields soon slipped in on Phil Stein in the Syracuse nets and found the net with a low shot from about twenty feet out.

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—Saving all the thrills for the last ten minutes, Philadelphia Arrows climbed into a third-place tie in the Canadian-American Hockey League yesterday evening by nosing out New Haven Eagles, cellar occupants of the circuit, 3 to 2.

The Arrows were aided largely by the work of Andy Aitkenhead, out on loan from New York Rangers, in their nets. The regular goalie, Alec Wood, is on the injured list.

Dodger Collins, Stan McCabe and Roy Baumeister scored for Philadelphia and Cliff McBride and Bill Homes notched for New Haven.

MAROONS TO MEET LEAFS

Great Hockey Battle Is Expected at Montreal To-night; Two Other Games

Tommy Gorman's swashbuckling Montreal Maroons and the seldom beaten Toronto Maple Leafs clash at Montreal to-night in a hockey contest that holds more interesting possibilities than most National League contests so far this season.

Stung by the defeat Montreal Canadiens handed them Tuesday and eager to close up the six-point gap between themselves and Leafs in the Canadian section standing, Maroons are planning a desperate stand to halt the high-scoring Torontonians. The teams have met once before, Toronto taking a 2 to 1 win with two third-period goals.

While they are battling in Montreal, Boston will attempt to break the tie with Chicago for leadership in the American section by defeating Americans in New York. If they win, they would hold first place until at least Sunday, when Black Hawks get back into action again.

Under the management of George Boucher, Ottawa Senator star of a decade ago who succeeds Eddie Gerard, St. Louis will attempt to halt their losing streak when they meet Detroit Red Wings in the Missouri city to-night. Jack Adams's team have beaten them twice before in closely fought games by scores of 4 to 1 and 3 to 1.

Winnipeg Monarchs In Lone Goal Win

London, Dec. 13. — The Lemay brothers, Albert and Tony, combined to give Winnipeg Monarchs a 1 to 0 victory over Stratham yesterday evening in the third game of their hockey tour of Britain and Europe. Unbeaten so far, Monarchs encountered stiff and determined opposition from the Stratham team, which hitherto also boasted an unbeaten season record.

Store Teams Gain Soccer Victories

Hudson's Bay Defeat Garrison and Spencers Humble Navy; Bays Go Into Undisputed Lead in Wednesday League

Victoria's two department store soccer teams combined yesterday to win their midweek games by identical scores, 3 to 2. As a result, Hudson's Bay, victors over the Garrison at Work Point, went back into undisputed first place in the standings, while Spencers, winners over the Navy, stopped the sailors from keeping pace with the green and gold squad and relegated them to second berth.

As a result of the games, the Bays have fourteen points to their credit, two more than the Navy. Garrison stands third with eleven and Spencers fourth with nine. Rangers have seven to hold fifth slot and Maccabees trail with one.

GARRISON TAKES LEAD

Garrison jumped into the lead in the first ten minutes of play when McAllister on the Tommies' right wing, completed a good forward movement to drive home the first goal.

The north end departmentals came right back and threatened several times only to have their attempts frustrated by the strong Garrison defence. Both goalies made good saves as the game continued.

Les Kennedy, Bays' centre half, brought the teams to even terms with a fast shot that skimmed the upright and went into the net. Miller finally put the Tommies ahead on a nice individual attack ending with a successful shot from close in.

Despite some good attacks by the Bays, they were unable to find the hemp for the remainder of the half and the Garrison led 2 to 1 at the interval.

Opening a determined attack, the Bays sallied into the Tommies' ground as the second half started. They maintained pressure in front of the goal and Art Carr finally drove home a rebound after several unsuccessful shots to bring the teams to even terms.

[illegible] the Bays [illegible] gained the deciding tally. Musgrave passed out to Fish, who crossed necely to the goal mouth, H. Bichard misskicked and Stewart crossed nicely to the goal mouth, H. Bichard with his knee, and it finished its career in the net.

F. Saunders refreed.

LAST MINUTE VERDICT

At Heywood Avenue, Bernie Clarke's last minute goal gave Spencers their margin of victory over the Navy. It was the first score of the second half, the teams having been deadlocked two-all at the interval.

A highlight of the game was the spectacular saving of Norm Stewartson, smart young custodian for the storemen. Spencers played an aggressive type of soccer that found several holes in the Navy defence and gave them chances on Mudie, who failed to show his usual form in the tars' net.

Stewartson frustrated a smart opening attack by the Navy, but the sailors were not to be denied. About ten minutes from the first whistle, Bruce Robinson gathered the ball outside the penalty area and drove it home for the opening goal.

SPENCERS ATTACK

Swinging back into the Navy end, Daryl Bissell passed out to the wing. Hutton, Navy half, missed an attempt to block and Bobby Browne came in to shoot. Mundie failed to get the drive away and Bissell hooked the ball into the net for the equalizer.

Once again smart net guarding by Stewartson robbed the sailors of apparent goals and Spencers returned to the attack. Morgan, playing on the right wing, came in to breast the ball home on a pass from Bissell and the storemen moved out in front 2 to 1. The advantage was short lived as Tommy Watt sent home the tieing tally just before the rest interval.

Both teams tried hard in the second half, but could not complete their attacks until Clarke came through within the final minute for the deciding goal.

W. J. Cull refereed.

Spencers—Stewartson, Cann, Munroe, L. Bradley, Moir, J. Morgan, Browne, Bissell, Clarke, Luxton and E. Morgan.

Intercity Hockey Matches Arranged

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—Intercity exhibition games have been arranged between teams in the Vancouver Commercial League and the City League of Seattle, Harry McDonald, secretary of the Vancouver circuit, announced yesterday evening.

The exhibition games will open at Seattle on December 20, with Red Wings playing a Seattle team yet to be selected. The remaining three teams in the Vancouver League will play in Seattle on December 30, January 13 and January 25.

A Seattle club will be named later to play here January 7 with other Sound City teams appearing here later.

PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY BECOMES MOST POPULAR OF ALL INDOOR SPORTS

By LESTER PATRICK
Manager and Coach, New York Rangers

New York, Dec. 13.—Hockey truly has become a big time sport.

To-day it virtually supports such sport palaces as Madison Square Garden, Detroit's Olympia, the Boston Garden, and Chicago's Stadium—outdraws long-established sports by substantial margins.

The ice game has grown into the most important revenue-producing game of all professional contests, and is quite without parallel among indoor sports promotions.

Peering ahead, I insist there is no limit to the possibilities of hockey. The surface scarcely has been scratched. If I may predict, hockey will be picked up on the next wave of prosperity and carried to a pinnacle of which not even the most enthusiastic admirer to-day would dream!

PLAY-OFF SYSTEM SATISFIES

Much has been said in criticism of the present play-off system we employ in playing for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of world championship, every year. It is my opinion, however, that this system is in hockey to stay.

To many, the play-off system seems a bit involved. But it really is simple to understand. Here is how it works:

The winners of the American and International divisions of the National Hockey League play each other for the league championship. Then the second and third place clubs of each league engage one another until the team which is to play the league champion for the Stanley Cup is decided.

HAWKS COME FROM BEHIND

Last year it worked this way: The Detroit Red Wings won the league title from the Toronto Maple Leafs. In the meantime, the Chicago Black Hawks managed to wade through the second and third place skirmishes in which the New York Rangers, Montreal Maroons and Montreal Canadiens were the other teams.

In the play-off for the Stanley Cup with Detroit, the Black Hawks were victorious.

The present play-off special will go into its seventh season this year, and we're expecting bigger response than ever.

Cardinals Capture City Hoop Honors

Defeat Burnetts 35 to 23 to Lift Intermediate Girls' Championship; Dealats and Hoyle-Brown Continue to Dominate Respective Divisions

Playing a wide open game of the grab and shoot variety New Method Laundry again fell victims of the victory drive of the Hoyle-Brown five in yesterday evening's men's senior B basketball game at the High School gym. The score was 53 to 23.

Defeating Burnetts 35 to 18 the Cardinals captured the girls' intermediate A championship. This is the first title of the present season to be decided. Dealats just about cinched the boys' intermediate A title by setting the Black Hawks down 39 to 23.

CARDINALS WIN

After finishing the first quarter on the short end of a 10 to 0 score, Cardinals came back with a vengeance to capture the game from their closest rivals. The victory gave the Cardinals the championship and the right to represent Victoria in the provincial play-downs. The city champions have only dropped one league fixture to date, and should go a long way in their quest of the British Columbia title.

Burnetts opened up at the outset of the game as if they were going to make the affair a walkaway. Baskets by D. Beere and J. Wilson gave them the lead before Cardinals found their bearings. The girls were checking and shotting well, and their opponents had very few opportunities to get in close to shoot. During the first ten minutes of play the black shirts ran in five field baskets without a single reply.

The second quarter was a different story, as it saw the Cards outplay and outscore their opponents 13 points to 3 and walk off the floor at the interval just two points to the bad, the score reading Burnetts 15, Cardinals 13.

Cardinals continued their victorious march into the third quarter and the spectacular shooting on the part of the V. Hannon-E. Gaunt forward line soon had the game tucked away and at the three-quarter mark the Cardinals were out in front 24 to 19.

The fourth and final quarter was just a repetition of the two preceding periods. The Cards had the game well in hand and nothing the Burnetts would do could stop the fast travelling Cardinals.

EASY VICTORY

Dealats crept another game closer to the boys' intermediate A championship as they handed the Black Hawks a drubbing. The losers were no match for the fast travelling Dealats, and after the first half were never in the picture.

The Hawks displayed their best form in the opening period as they held their opponents pretty well in check and were only down four points at the half, 19 to 15.

Running in substitutes in fast order, the undefeated league leaders pulled away from their opponents in the final stanza and coasted home to an easy victory.

Webster of the Dealats and Meyers of the Black Hawks were leading scorers, each having ten points to his credit.

GAIN EARLY LEAD

Hoyle-Brown jumped into the lead right from the start against the Laundry. Due to the lack of anything resembling a defence on the part of the Laundry boys, the winners had no difficulty getting in close for easy shots at the hoop. Caddell and Goldsmith had a gala time and repeatedly went through for baskets that placed Hoyle-Brown so far in the lead that it was only a question of how high the score would go before the timer's bell sounded to end the strugle.

BUCKETEERS IN CAGE VICTORY

Outlaws of the hoop circuits, beaten in their only senior friendly engagement this season, Bucketeers of Mount Tolmie wreaked vengeance against organized basketball yesterday evening as they defeated Jack Caddell's intermediate Fernwood Merchants 38 to 27 at the Memorial Hall.

Led by their playing manager, Allie LeMarquand, who was joined in the chief scoring lists by Archie Miller and Reg Wenman, the Bucketeers steamed right through to win. They piled up a good lead in the first half and held it in spite of the fact their second string allowed the Merchants to cut down the margin in the second half.

Continental Soccer Should Be Fostered

Matches Between English and European Teams Should Be Increased and Not Ended as Suggested by Several Critics After England-Italy Battle; the Italians Not All to Blame

Special to The Times

London, Dec. 13.—England is in danger of being accused of squealing. Much ink has been spilt by soccer critics, some of whom seem to have become hysterical in trying to outdo others, about the "Battle of Highbury" of the "War-to-an-end," as the match between England and Italy has now become known.

When Harold Larwood flung down his "expresses" on the leg-side in Australia a couple of years ago, Englishmen, or the majority of them, were quite convinced that his tactics were legitimate. The Australians, however, thought otherwise, and they revolted against what they termed "bodyline" bowling which they considered was used to intimidate their batsmen. On that occasion Australia was accused of squealing.

Now the boot seems to be on the other foot. That phrase is almost bound to boomerang back upon England over the latest soccer outburst. Italy's tactics, which were considered mainly responsible for the Italians being able to hold the Englishmen to 3 to 2, after losing 3 to 0, were considered to be "foreign" to English soccer. The Italians, however, no doubt thought they were quite legitimate. As in the case of Australians and "bodyline" bowling, England resented the methods adopted by the Italians, and by so doing is liable to be labelled "squealers" by people to whom they previously applied this name.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

The whole of the trouble was due to the Italians' vague idea of the rules regarding shoulder-charging and obstructing. The match was played in English conditions and under English rules, and naturally the Italians were bound to commit some offence.

The trouble may be said to have started when Ceresoli, the Italian goalkeeper, who played a brilliant game, was charged several times by the English forwards.

This, to the Italians, who are not used to seeing their goalkeepers roughly handled, was the last straw. Such a happening was predicted before the match and subsequent events proved these fears to be justified.

Much was written about Hapgood's broken nose, Drake's leg being "cut to ribbons," and other instances, but there did not seem to be a great deal wrong with the "injured" on the following Saturday. Bowden, with a damaged ankle, was the only absentee of the seven Arsenal players

The Italians did not emerge from the match unscathed. Monti, the centre-half and considered the "key" man of the side, played in only the first two minutes of the match. He had a bone in his toe broken. Then Ceresoli, the hero of the match, sustained a painful injury to his groin.

These facts were not lost on Signor Pozzo, the manager of the Italian team, who, replying to the charges of rough play, said, "If England accuses us of fouling intentionally, we can say that they did likewise."

TALK OF ENDING MATCHES

There has been much talk of matches with continental countries being suspended—just as there was similar talk of the test matches with Australia being dropped. Wiser counsel is likely to prevail, however.

The football association are a wise body and it can be safely assumed that they will deal diplomatically with the trouble. Far from cancelling matches with continental countries, it should be their duty to increase them if possible.

The matches have always been carried out in the friendliest of spirit. Why get hysterical and have them stopped just because of one isolated instance? Many of the saner critics point out that the match was not nearly so rough as some league encounters. One stated that it certainly was no worse than the match between Grimsby and Arsenal on the preceding Saturday.

A SOLUTION

This interchange of matches must go on. For many years now England has been teaching and encouraging soccer in other countries and there is no reason why they should not continue to do so.

But one thing must be done first. Continental federations must be encouraged to adopt the rules under which the game is played in England. Perhaps this threat of a severance of soccer relations by England will serve its purpose in forcing the foreign organizations to adopt English rules. They will realize that unless they do so they will lose lucrative and valued fixtures with the Mother Country.

Football as played on the continent differs vastly from that in England, not only as regards the laws but in the spirit in which the game is played.

That Europe is keen to remain on friendly terms with England is certain. It can, therefore, be taken for granted that everything possible will be done by the respective organizations to maintain the friendly relations.

Germany, whose only visit to England was in 1901, when they lost 12 to 0 and 10 to 0, is one of the countries anxious to maintain contact with England.

"SPORT SHOULD BE SPORT"

"Sport should be sport," says the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger in commenting on the alleged "ferocity" of the Anglo-Italian match.

"It should not be taken in 'bloody' earnest, not deteriorate into a 'battle' as was the case with the match at Highbury," adds the paper.

The paper says that people in England well understand the order to win, but most decidedly reject the order to win at any price because they have mastered the art of losing in a chivalrous manner.

"Therefore," continues The Lokal Anzeiger, "they have had enough of Italian football in England. But they are committing the mistake of regarding it as typical of continental football. The danger thus arises that the English, for the time being, will not want to see any more football teams from the continent. That is the result of the Italo-British match in London, but it is not a very pleasing one."

PRAISE FROM FRANCE

After all the unpleasantness which surrounded the England-Italy match it was particularly refreshing to read of the friendly atmosphere in which Arsenal's annual fixture with the Racing Club de France was played in Paris.

The Echo de Paris, after paying tribute to the skill of the Arsenal players who "executed unexpected combinations in a fashion most disconcerting and tracing geometric figures," emphasized that the most striking feature of the game was the sporting spirit displayed by both teams.

The comment of L'Auto was: "Arsenal furnished us with the best exhibition of football seen this year, and what is even better the match was free from all unpleasantness."

Arsenal, although without the services of the majority of their stars, won by 3 to 0. The absentees were Alex James, Hapwood, Bastin, Roberts and Bowden.

The London club returned with more honors than their victory. During their visit the Minister of Education and Physique, on behalf of the French government, presented to Sir Frederick Wall, who is now one of the club's directors, and Mr. George F. Allison, the manager, the Gold Medal, which is the highest decoration this department can confer upon people whom they deem worthy of the honor.

LAXATIVES KEEP CHILD FROM FORMING HABIT

Inactivity of Bowel Can Be Corrected Best by Proper Training and by Feeding Vegetables, Fruits, Water and Cereals

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Somehow a good many mothers have the notion that a baby should have its bowels cleaned out artificially once each week, as it ought to be bathed at least once a week, but preferably every day.

The things usually used to force the activity of the child's bowel are syrup of figs, licorice powder, castor oil, or some similar strong medicine, that doctors might hesitate to give without special indications for their use.

Unfortunately, these children grow up with their bowels so inactive that it requires at least five grains of calomel or something equally strong to bring about a result.

Strangely enough, persons who would hesitate to use digitalis in heart disease or ether to produce anesthesia never hesitate to prescribe a medicine for the bowels.

In most cases, the bowels of children will act without any artificial stimulation if the child is properly trained and properly fed. In some cases the life of the child is so completely inactive that its bowel gets lazy.

The mother, noticing this, is likely to give a strong cathartic and as a result the bowel quits completely.

It is best to train the infant by holding it on the lap after feeding, while it sits on a suitable vessel. The child is kept thus until it responds, but not too long if it does not respond.

Occasionally an infant glycerine suppository or a small rod or the mother's finger suitably greased can give the initial stimulus and in a few days the child will develop the habit.

Even this sort of artificial stimulation should not be indulged in so constantly, however, that the child becomes unable to do without it.

For older children the addition of some green vegetable to the diet, the use of a wholewheat cereal will sometimes be a sufficient stimulus to a suitable bowel action. Most important of all, however, is establishment of a habit.

Unfortunately, if the accommodations are limited, the child may be crowded out and forced into postponement by adults going to work and by children going to school, so that a well-established habit tends to become an after-luncheon habit, and then it gets to a point where it is not a habit at all.

Little children find out early in life that their mothers are always concerned over their appetites and their bowels and that, by bringing a considerable amount of pressure on the mother, they can get a good deal more attention by refusing food and refusing to have a bowel action.

The more they diet themselves, the more concerned the mothers become over their diets and bowel action. This is what the doctors call a vicious circle. The mother who gets herself into a state of nerves over the inactivity of the child's bowels does not help the constipation, but is likely to make it much worse.

Establishment of a regular habit of emptying the bowel is the most important feature of overcoming constipation in a child. Children should always be given adequate time and be provided with adequate facilities for taking care of this part of their hygiene.

The routine use of laxatives and cathartics is a menace to the child's health. Giving a sufficient amount of fresh vegetables, fruits, water and wholewheat cereal in the child's diet will help it to overcome any tendency to chronic constipation.

Once chronic constipation is established, the most careful study by the doctor, the nurse, and the parents is required to correct the condition.

LONDON WOOL

London, Dec. 12 (Associated Press). —The sixth series of wool auctions closed yesterday with a total of 21,162 bales being offered, of which 9,833 were sold. Offerings included 810 bales of Punta Arenas, 452 Patagonia and 169 Chilean.

The closing tone was good and there was an active demand for better wools, with few withdrawals. All sales were well attended. Throughout the bidding was brisk from the home trade who took a large portion of the offerings. The sales were strongly supported by Continental buyers, while Germany operated only moderately.

Merinos, fine crossbreds, slipes and capes closed unchanged, compared with the final prices of the last series, while medium coarse grades were unchanged to 5 per cent lower. The home trade bought 63,500 bales, the Continent 55,500, American 1,000 and about 105,500 bales were held over.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Dec. 13.—The Cariboo Hydro-Electric Power plant to be built by British interests will have an initial capacity of 5,000 horsepower, Dr. W. B. Burnett, president of the Cariboo Gold Quartz company, stated yesterday. He said $1,000,000 is immediately available for the property and work will be started in the spring.

INDUSTRIALS CONFLICTING

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 13. — The distillery stocks rocketed about to-day in a storm of conflicting market emotions arising out of the charges laid against officials of Distillers Seagrams and the announcement that the U.S. government was also investigating liquor shipments. Losses up to 1¾ were registered in the group by early afternoon, but these were reduced somewhat before the close.

Ford "A" was a feature on the upside, trading in good volume and holding part of a fractional gain. International Nickel held a gain of half a point at 23 and C.P.R. added ¼. Smelters turned heavy and dropped four points.

United Fuel preferred continued in active demand till the close. Holding a gain of 5 points at a new high for the year, B.C. Power "A" was also up.

In the steel group Dominion Bridge held a gain but recessions predominated with Page Hersey off nearly three points, part of which represented dividend. Distillers closed at 14 off ⅞ and Walkers at 24⅜ off 1⅜.

Gains of a half a point or more came out for Goodyear preferred, Abitibi preferred, Simpsons preferred and Dominion, Imperial, Commerce and Toronto Banks.

LONDON MARKET

London, Dec. 13.—Trading on the stock exchange was moderately active to-day. Gilt-edged securities benefited on cheap money, while motor shares and home rails were being purchased by large concerns. Transatlantic issues held steady. Kaffirs, were unaffected by further satisfactory dividend announcements, but other sections eased. The market closed quiet.

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 13. — The stock market was firm in spots to-day, with specialties showing the greatest activity. Retail store issues were in demand and some of the metals staged a mild recovery. Most of the old-line leaders were inclined to drift lower.

The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 975,000 shares.

The general market was at its best in the first hour when the trading pace was quite brisk. The volume dwindled in the afternoon as realizing flurries appeared.

New year's highs, with gains of around a point, were recorded by shares of Wilson and Company, A, United States A, McLellan Stores and McCrory Stores. Radio preferred B rallied about 3. Both the Radio and Wilson stocks reflected recapitalization prospects and the adjustment of accrued dividends. Steadier issues included Liggett and Meyers B, International Harvester, Industrial Rayon and U.S. Industrial Alcohol. There was a run-up in U.S. Smelting of more than two points, but the greater part of this advance was relinquished just before the close. Union Pacific held a point gain.

American Telephone, ex-dividend, was off a point, as were Western Union and Du Pont. Moderate declines were registered by North American, Consolidated Gas, American Can, Standard Oils of California and New Jersey and Tyas Corporation.

MIXED TREND AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 13.—The Toronto exchange mining market was bristling with possibilities and also threats today as some stocks advanced sharply and others declined. Senior gold shares were soft with heavy selling of Pioneer on a price decline of 30 cents. God's Lake was run up to 2.04 on new high volume for the current movement and other strong spots were Little Long Lac up 45 cents and Eldorada up 16.

Secondary gold issues harbored the main strength of to-day's market. Encouraged by the advance of God's Lake and Little Long Lac, Macassa, Siscoe, Pickle Crow, Howey and Coniarum all advanced.

Bobjo, a reported heavy holder of God's Lake, advanced to 32½. Losses predominated however in the pennys. McMillan was under selling pressure, the price dropping 5 cents to 32.

Noranda was in some demand and it advanced 50 cents. Base Metals Corporation sold at a new low mark of 58.

Trade was spotty in the cheap oils and prices boarded no important changes. Acme gained a cent and Home Oil was off 3 to 52. Chemical Research lost a point.

BOND ISSUES WORK HIGHER

Associated Press

New York, Dec. 13.—Bonds worked gradually higher in light trading. Firmness was noted in both the corporate and U.S. government issues.

Second grade rails, utilities and industrials reflected the generally stiffer tone of the other groups.

Tarzan of the Apes

During the long trek up the coast, Tarzan had spoken freely of himself to d'Arnot, and asked many questions of the world toward which they were heading. D'Arnot taught him many of civilization's refinements. Tarzan told about the great chest he had seen the sailors bury; how he had hidden it.

Once D'Arnot questioned him about his parents, and Tarzan told him of Kala, his mother, the great fine ape. D'Arnot looked long and earnestly at him. "Tarzan, it is impossible that Kala the ape was your mother. You are pure man. Have you no clue to your past?"

Tarzan replied: "I have read everything that was in the cabin with the exception of one book. Possibly you can read it." He fished the little black book from the bottom of his quiver. And D'Arnot read aloud from the diary of the unfortunate Lord Greystoke, written in French.

It ended just as Lord Greystoke was struck down by Kerchak, the king ape. . . . "To-day our little son is six months old. He is sitting beside me. Now he has grabbed my pen, and with his ink-begrimed fingers placed the seal of his tiny fingerprints upon this page. . . ."

And there in the margin were the partially blurred imprints of four wee fingers. . . . Finishing the diary, D'Arnot sat in silence. In his mind had sprung the determination to prove a theory. He believed he had discovered the key that alone could unlock the mystery of Tarzan of the Apes.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Will it break a twenty-two-year-old girl's heart if she falls in love with me and finds that I will never marry her? I am not in love with her. I am just being friendly to her. She doesn't have many boy friends nor many attentions from them. I don't begrudge the hours spent with her, so am not hurting myself.

A YOUNG BIM GUMP.

Answer: Well, son, remember the trouble that Uncle Bim had with the Widow Zander, and especially what happened when he flirted with Millie, and beware of playing around with lovely ladies. It is never a safe diversion for any man in these days of breach-of-promise suits, when so many women require to have their wounded affections healed by a poultice of greenbacks.

But I commend you for considering the girl's side of the matter as well as your own. Most of the men whose attentions are without intentions are concerned solely with their own getaway and never give a thought to the harm they have done to the girl whose love they may have won and whose best years they may have wasted and whom they may have doomed to spinsterhood.

Personally, I think there is no greater cad on earth than the man who deliberately sets himself to win a girl's heart without intending to marry her. He takes the most precious thing in the world and makes of it a plaything with which to amuse himself, and when he tires of it he throws it away as a child does a toy of which it has wearied. And that is all there is to it so far as he is concerned. Selfishness and egotism can go no farther nor work any crueler wrong.

Of course, girls whose affections have been trifled with, as the old phrase goes, do not die of broken hearts. Sometimes it would be better for them if they did. For something in them has been killed that is more precious than life itself. Their faith in men has been slain. The fine flower of their youth, the glamour of romance, the joy, the thrills, the palpitations of love are gone from them forever.

It is a terrible thing for a man to rob a girl of these and to fill her heart so full of love for him that there will never be room in it for any other man. Plenty of girls who get over first loves marry, but they have only the cold ashes of affection to give their husbands. Their flame of love burned itself out at the feet of a man who did not want it.

Consider also how unfair a deal you are giving a girl when you blight her chances of making a good marriage when you do not mean to marry her yourself. You know very well that when a girl is young and pretty and fresh she is most attractive to men and that if she doesn't catch a husband while she is at the peak of her charms she is not likely to get one at all,

You also know that if you take up all of her time and attention, if you are seen out with her everywhere, that you are deliberately sacrificing her chances of marrying and settling herself in life to the pleasure you find in her society. You keep other men away from her because they naturally assume that you are engaged to her and are going to marry her.

You may say that you have been honest and fair with the girl, that you have told her that your attentions are merely platonic, and that you are not in love with her. No woman will believe a man when he tells her that when he also keeps on coming to see her. The woman in love is the most optimistic fool in the world, and she keeps on hoping against hope that she can work the miracle of turning liking into loving, and that she can make herself so [illegible] that he will not be able to live without her.

The only honorable thing for a man to do when he finds a girl is falling in love with him and he does not return her affection, is to keep away from her. Let the fire of passion in her heart burn out for want of fuel. Force her to realize that her case is hopeless. Let her find some new boy friend and give her a chance to marry and be happy.

• • • •

DEAR MISS DIX—Will you please tell us why some men remain true to their wives while others are unfaithful to wives who posses every charm and virtue? In spite of much evidence to the contrary, I still believe that there are husbands who are loyal to the woman they marry and I want to know why.

IRENE.

Answer: That is one of the things that every woman would like to know and no woman knows for certain. If there were any reliable recipe for holding a husband, the great majority of women would break their necks to follow it and there wouldn't be so many broken homes in the community.

But there does not seem to be any attribute that a woman can have, or any line of conduct that she can follow, that insures her husband's being true to her We see beauties whose husbands philander with women not half so good-looking as they are. We see husbands wander away from firesides that are kept garnished and swept by wives who are notable housekeepers and cooks. We see brilliant and entertaining women who can spellbind other men, but not their own husbands. We see even Patient Griselda's husband jumping the bars.

So it is no wonder that wives ask why are husbands faithful or unfaithful. I think the answer is that men are true or untrue, according to their nature. Some men are born domestic. Others are born rovers. Some men crave constant change and excitement. Others stay put wherever they are. And some men have a higher sense of honor and loyalty and duty than other men. And this includes wives as well as financial obligations.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — How can a man make himself attractive to women?

R. H.

Answer: By taking as much trouble to be easy on the eyes as women do. By dressing as well as he can and by keeping himself shaven and shorn and pressed and clean. No woman wants to look at a man with his hair hanging over his collar and a stubble of beard on his face and a general appearance of needing to be sent to the laundry.

By being interesting to talk to. By being well read and intelligent. By being able to converse about books that everybody is reading and topics that everybody is discussing instead of monologuing about himself and what he said to the boss and the boss said to him. By having a line that doesn't consist of sporting events and baseball and football scores.

By knowing how to do things. How to dance without stepping on a girl's feet. How to order a dinner. How to get the right seats at a theatre. How to meet people. How to take care of a girl. By showing a girl the little attentions that all women love. By observing anniversaries.

By remembering her tastes and interests. A girl would rather have a magazine that had in it some article she expressed an interest in than a de luxe edition of an author she never read. A single rose that was sent on the day a man first met a girl would make a greater hit with her than a $30 bunch of orchids sent hit or miss. By treating a girl as if she were an intelligent human being and not a moron. By making a girl feel that you admired her and respected her.

By not making love to her the first time you saw her and by not pawing her and making her pay for every date by submitting to familiarities.

There is no way you could interest a girl so much as by acting like a gentleman. It will be such a novelty to her that it will make a hit with her at once.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1934

Again adverse planetary aspects are active, according to astrology. The afflictions of Jupiter and Saturn make all new ventures exceedingly risky. The wise will complete what has been well begun.

It is well to focus energies on humanitarian and philanthropic projects rather than on business or professional work. The stars encourage the recognition of the universal brotherhood.

Decisions of importance should be postponed, since there may be a tendency to waver in opinion and to regret whatever has been the verdict. It is an unlucky day for entering into marriage engagements.

Hasty marriages will mark the winter season and there will be many small weddings in place of more ostentatious ceremonies, astrologers forecast.

This is a time to avoid colds and transient maladies due to weather conditions. Heart ailments also may be exceedingly prevalent.

Mass hypnotism, which was apparent in the fall election campaigns, now will have effect upon Christmas shoppers, who will respond to optimistic propaganda.

According to the horoscope of Ramsay MacDonald, the British Empire is to have many difficult problems, although its economic troubles diminish. Many war rumors will affect it.

For Canada another winter of extraordinary cold weather and much snow is prognosticated. Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston and Toronto may expect communistic influences.

Children born on this day may be of a serious and plodding nature. Subjects of this sign usually have broad vision and ability to attain great success.

Pierre Samuel DuPont De Nemours, political economist, was born on this day, 1739. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Paul Albert, French literary historian, 1827; William Bright, D.D., English church historian, 1824.

C. EDMONDSON COMING HERE

General Manager of Redwood Empire Association to Arrive Saturday

Clyde Edmondson, general manager of the Redwood Empire Association, will arrive in Victoria on Saturday for a conference on the tourist industry with George I. Warren, publicity commissioner.

Mr. Edmondson is the man responsible for the Redwood Highway, running through America's newest national playground on the Pacific Coast, and linking California, Oregon and Washington with British Columbia. He is a champion of hard-surfaced highways.

Ninety-seven per cent of the world's redwoods stand within the Redwood empire, some of these forest giants reaching a height of 364 feet, with a diameter of twenty-five feet.

The hard-surfaced highway, which extends from Grant's Pass in Oregon to San Francisco, runs through over 100 miles of these magnificent trees. It offers an all-year variety of natural, scenic and historic attractions with a diversity of recreational facilities, easily accessible.

Thousands of cars and tourists travel over the Redwood Highway season to and from British Columbia and it is in connection with this increasing traffic that Mr. Edmondson plans to visit this city. He will be at the Empress Hotel while in Victoria

Father Lemmens Leaves Duncan

Special to The Times

Duncan, Dec. 13. — Rev. Father Lemmens, who has been in this district for the last ten years, has been elected to the board of consulters at the Mother House of the Company of Mary at Montfort, at Saint Laurent sur Sevre, Vende, Brittany, France, and will leave Duncan to-day. Father W. Lemmens, his brother, will look after this parish until a new rector is appointed.

On Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. James Marsh, a farewell party was held, arranged by Alec. Martinich for the combined parishes of St. Edward's, Duncan, and St. Francis Xavier, Cobble Hill. Military bridge was played, prize winners being Mrs. J. Weicker, Mrs. Carberry, Mrs. Martinich, and Father W. Lemmens. After refrshments were served Santa Claus appeared, and after giving out the prizes, presented Father Lemmens with a handsome traveling bag. In thanking his parishioners for their gift and good wishes, Father Lemmens said that although he was very sorry to leave the district, he was very gratified to be able to tell them that the last instalment of the debt on St. Edward's Church, Duncan, has now been paid off, which he considered a wonderful achievement for the parish, as the church was only started seven years ago.

SOCIETY HAS GOOD YEAR

H. E. Tanner Retains Presidency of Saanich Agricultural Body

Saanichton, Dec. 13.—Further improvements to the Agricultural Hall, planned to be completed prior to the opening of the sixty-seventh annual fair set for September 17 and 18 next year, were discussed last week at the annual general meeting of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society.

The annual financial statement was read by the secretary, S. G. Stoddart, which showed the society is financially in a satisfactory position, in view of the considerable expenditures incurred during the last year in connection with new buildings and improvements to the hall.

H. E. Tanner was again elected president, with J. J. White as first vice-president, Fred Turgoose, second vice-president, and Mrs. F. Turgoose, third vice-president.

Other officers are: Secretary-treasurer, Stuart G. Stoddart; finance committee, Mrs. R. E. Nimmo, George T. Michell, J. M. Malcolm and F. Turgoose. The directors will be A. W. Aylard, C. H. Borden, H. E. Burbidge, A. Calvert, Ian Douglas, W. H. Dawes, Capt. Nat. Gray, Capt. C. F. Gibson, D. H. Heyer, T. K. Harrap, I. C. Hagan, A. W. Hollands, Gavin Jack, Geo. Little, W. D. Michell, Chris. Moses, Geo. T. Michell, J. M. Malcolm, Geo. W. Malcolm, J. A. Nunn, R. E. Nimmo, Jas. E. Nimmo, H. C. Oldfield, E. F. Racey, Ralph Rendle, Chas. L. Styan, J. R. Scoby, Rev. E. M. Scheelan, A. G. Smith, Lionel E. Taylor, Capt. C. R. Wilson, A. N. Primeau, Col. H. D. Davidson, W. H. Brown, Colin Chisholm, Frank Butler. The auditors will be J. R. Scoby and Capt. C. R. Wilson.

At a later meeting the ladies will elect their own members for the directorate.

The ladies, under the convenership of Mrs. Turgoose and Mrs. Nimmo, were again complimented and thanked for their untiring efforts during the year.

The question of increasing the membership was brought forward by W. H. Dawes and his suggestions were left in the hands of the finance committee.

W. D. Michell was congratulated upon his recent successes at the Chicago Fair.

A silent tribute was paid to the memory of the late Capt. H. B. Babington, who was a valued director in the society for many years.

Commission Prepares For Wide Fuel Probe

Inquiry Under Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald Makes Preliminary Arrangements; Adjourns to February; Oil and Coal Companies Represented

Production of evidence on costs, price spreads, profits and economic values of the coal, oil, and gasoline industries will commence some time in February before the Royal Commission appointed by the Provincial Government to inquire into the fuel industry of the province.

This was decided yesterday afternoon when the commission, under Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald, held a preliminary session at the courthouse and then adjourned to not earlier than February 1.

In the meantime the commissioner and C. H. O'Halloran, commission counsel, will be given an opportunity to visit coal mines and oil refining plants to familiarize themselves with the processes involved in manufacture of the products.

Coal and oil companies will also be asked to furnish information from their books for perusal of commission counsel. They have expressed a willingness to do so.

Counsel representing three oil companies and one coal company appeared yesterday. They are: J. W. de B. Farris, K.C., and Bruce Robertson for the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. and subsidiary companies; Col. W. S. Buell for the Imperial Oil Company and its subsidiary, the Imperial Oil Refineries Ltd.; J. E. McMullen, K.C., for the Union Oil Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Reginald Symes for the Home Oil Distributors Ltd. K. McRae will appear for the Union Steamship Company, it was stated.

A minor tiff between counsel developed, having to do with securing data on production costs of oil.

Mr. Buell pointed out that all the crude oil in the province was imported and that if the cost as laid down here were shown, it would be sufficient.

Mr. O'Halloran said he could not agree to that suggestion yet and would not wish to limit the scope of the inquiry in that respect. Mr. Farris agreed the question should be left open for the present.

All companies represented offered to throw their books open to chartered accountants who might be chosen for the inquiry, although it was pointed out in the case of the oil companies the books were kept in head offices not in the province. This could be overcome by having certified statements forwarded by accountants in centres where the head offices were located, it was explained.

Mr. O'Halloran proposed that all boards of trade, labor unions and other interested public bodies which might have relevant data to submit be asked for their co-operation and the commissioner agreed so long as the inquiry would not be cluttered up with irrelevant material.

"What we want to do is get the facts," said Mr. Justice MacDonald. "We will try to do that to the best of our ability and I'm sure we'll have the co-operation of all parties concerned."

ROYAL OAK

A lantern lecture was given in St. Michael's Hall by Dr. J. S. Plaskett on Monday evening on cathedrals and colleges of England. The cathedrals shown included Liverpool, Canterbury, Norfolk, Lincoln, Chichester, Winchester, Exeter, Gloucester, Salisbury, Hereford, Bath, York Minster and Westminster Abbey. Slides of Greenwich, with its famous observatory and the home of the astronomer royal were also shown.

The next lecture has been arranged for early in January, when Rev. G. A. Reynolds will tell of his visit to Germany.

Mrs. W. E. Heal has returned to her home on the East Saanich Road after an extended holiday in Portland, Oregon, and California.

Mrs. Len Billinge and children, Patsy and Sally, of Los Angeles, are visiting Mrs. Billinge's sister, Mrs. Jack Oliver, East Saanich Road.

ALL "MESSIAH" TICKETS SOLD

A large audience is assured for "The Messiah" performance in Christ Church Cathedral on December 19.

The committee in charge of the performance some months ago decided to make available some seats for non-programme holders, rather than fill the cathedral entirely with programme holders, so some 300 seats will be available next Wednesday for those without programmes. This will, probably, enable many to hear this great oratorio who would otherwise be unable to do so. Those occupying these seats will be given the opportunity to contribute toward the cost of the undertaking by an offering to be taken at the doors on retiring.

Doors will open at 7.15 p.m. for programme holders only, who will be given until 7.45 p.m. to be seated, at which time the public will be admitted until the 300 seats are filled. The performance will commence at 8 p.m. promptly, concluding about 10.20 p.m.

It will be of much interest to those intending to be present to hear Mr. Bulley's address Sunday, on "How to listen to "The Messiah," to be delivered in the cathedral immediately following a shortened evensong.

Percy Wills to Speak Saturday

"California As I Saw It," will be the subject of an address which will be given on Saturday evening at 6.30 o'clock in Speedie's Cafe by Percy E. Wills, who is the missionary of the Shantyman's Christian Association on Vancouver Island. Mr. Wills has just returned from a trip to California. He visited many sections and in Los Angeles saw things from the Biltmore Hotel down to Dan's Mission. Mr. Wills is known as a fluent speaker and his addresses here always draw large crowds.

R. J. ASHMORE WARD LEADER

Officers of the Saanich Ward 2 Non-political Ratepayers' Association were elected at the annual meeting in Cloverdale School yesterday evening. R. J. Ashmore was named president, succeeding C. H. Underwood. R. J. Hood was elected vice-president and Dennis Hoare secretary-treasurer.

The following members were selected for the standing investigations committee: C. H. Underwood, R. J. Ashmore, O. B. Ormond and Dennis Hoare. Mr. Hoare, Mr. Hood and Mr. Underwood were named delegates to the Central Ratepayers' Council.

The meeting decided to again sponsor the annual Christmas tree for children of the ward and the following committee was appointed to handle the arrangements: Mrs. O. V. Dawkins, Mrs. Edward Glover, Miss Christine Reid, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Underwood, Samuel Bell, F. J. Plewry, George Barker and A. E. Coles.

The Wilkinson Road Women's Missionary Society held its annual meeting in the Sunday school room of the church on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. Allison in the chair. The roll was answered by verses of Scripture after which correspondence from the "Literature Depot" in Vancouver was read by Mrs. P. Boorman.

Two delegates, Mrs. G. Jones and Mrs. W. Jones, were chosen to attend the Victoria Presbyterial which is to be held early in the year. Reports were given by the various secretaries and heralds.

During the afternoon the members and friends were favored with a vocal duet by Mrs. C. Allison and Mrs. H. Allison, a Christmas story by Mrs. W. Jones and a vocal solo by Mrs. W. Garnham.

Before the meeting closed Mrs. J. Hoy, head of the nominating committee, took the chair and read the names of the officers for the year. They are as follows: president, Mrs. A. Allison; honorary president, Mrs. W. Allison; vice-president, Mrs. S. Jones; recording secretary, Mrs. Knott; treasurer, Mrs. H. Pringle; stranger's secretary, Mrs. G. Jones; supply secretary, Mrs. W. Jewell; literature secretary, Mrs. D. Phillips; corresponding secretary, Mrs. P. Boorman; christian stewardship, Mrs. J. Edge; temperance secretary, Mrs. Scott; reporter, Mrs. Slocum; C.G.I.T. representative, Mrs. W. Allan; Mite-box secretary, Mrs. Massey, and pianist, Mrs. W. Jones.

Satisfaction was expressed in the fact that the allocation for the year had been met. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. S. Pringle, Burnside Road.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Many astronomers agree that the possibilities of life are greater on the Galilean moons of Jupiter, and on the giant moon of Saturn, than they are on any of the planets themselves.
